'Real Drive on Depression' Is Started Today

Officials Want Business On Upgrade by Labor Day
HUGE SUM INVOLVED
More Than 8 Billion of U. S. Money for Varied Purposes

Washington—(AP)—The administration began today what President Roosevelt calls "the real drive on depression."

It was the start of a new fiscal year in which relief agencies, the army and navy, public works departments and federal lending corporations may pour out approximately $8,500,000,000. Some of this money is returnable to the treasury.

Administration officials said this huge sum—equal to more than $66 for every person in the nation—was needed because there are approximately 10,500,000 unemployed in the country. This estimate, furnished by a federal economist, was based on a higher than last October, when a recession's effect became visible.

Fast Decline

Officials left little doubt they hope to get business positively on an upgrade by Labor day, although economists estimated it would take a year from the upturn to recover the ground lost since last summer.

In that time, the federal reserve board's index of industrial production has fallen from 118 to 76—the fastest decline in modern American history.

Here's what the administration proposes to do with the $8,500,000,000.

1. WPA, whose employment rolls have risen from 1,500,000 last October to 2,735,000, will step up its spending to care for a maximum of about 3,000,000 persons. Compared with the $1,500,000,000 it had in the last 12 months, WPA has $1,425,000,000 for the next eight months. This is an average of $178,000,000 a month.

Clear Way For Projects

2. PWA, which spent $216,000,000 in the last year, can spend up to $1,000,000,000 in the new year. It already has allocated $400,000,000 for projects to be started as rapidly as possible in every state and territory.

3. CCC received $286,000,000 to retain its present strength of 300,000 youths and veterans in 1,500 camps. Instead of sending more men home to increase unemployment, several other agencies, such as the national youth administration, also received new funds in the spending-lending bill.

4. The navy, spending faster than at any time since the World war, is starting construction of 39 more ships, including four $70,000,000 battleships. Work will continue on two battleships and 57 other vessels already being built. Construction in this fiscal year will cost $154,000,000.

Enlist More Men

5. The army will add about 3,000 enlisted men and a few hundred officers to its roll, including 1,500 additional personnel for the air corps. Both army and navy air corps will be more planes.

6. The Reconstruction Finance corporation, with a potential loan power of $1,500,000,000, speeded up its loan machinery so that it has loaned $80,000,000 to business in four months. Besides providing aid to railroads, the RFC has offered to put up many millions to finance public purchase of private utilities where federal and state power projects, such as TVA, create special problems.

7. Other lending agencies, notably those concerned with home ownership, will continue their operations.

8. The treasury will spend $70,000,000 this year for new federal buildings, mostly postoffices, in every state.

Government economists studying general business conditions have drawn encouragement from the rise in stock market prices, slightly better railroad freight volume, inventory depletion, larger construction contracts, and similar factors.

Rains Damage Crops, Disrupt Rail Service

Bridges Washed Out in Some Counties and Highway Traffic Hampered

4 SWIM TO SAFETY

5.6 Inches of Water Fall in 12 Hours in Williams Bay Area

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay reported today that rainfall in that neighborhood during the 12-hour period ending at 5:30 Friday morning was 5.6 inches.

Walworth county suffered heavily from the downpour, and six bridges on various county highways were washed out. Four men had to swim for their lives when bridges collapsed under them.

At Janesville, a fall of 3.06 inches was reported. Crops were beaten down and railroad service disrupted.

Lake Geneva rose 10.5 inches overnight.

Highway 12 (the Chicago to Twin Cities route) six miles north of Elkhorn was under 8 inches of water for a distance of a mile Friday. A bridge on Highway 12 north of Elkhorn was too weak for service.

Herbert Root and Peter Lerwick of Delavan, crossing a bridge on Walworth County Trunk F at 3 o'clock Friday morning, were plunged into the water when the bridge collapsed. They swam ten or fifteen feet to the creek banks, and on a side road north of Elkhorn, Herbert Wolf and Lee Dennison had the same experience when their car went down. They also had to swim about ten feet.

Rail Traffic Halted

Elkhorn was isolated from railroad traffic on the Milwaukee road. The sewage disposal plant at Elkhorn was shut out of commission when overflow from the outlets flooded the plant in 5 feet of water and ruined the motors. A small amount of livestock north of Elkhorn was missing.

During the spring, fishermen had seized Lake Delavan and had removed 80,000 pounds of carp, placing them in a retaining pond Thursday night. The retaining pond was washed away and most of the carp swam back into the lake.

Manitowish had 21 inches of rainfall in 24 hours.

In Kenosha county, 1.66 inches of rain fell between 5 o'clock Thursday morning and 5 o'clock Friday morning. At Wilmet, a wire fence deflected a small stream and washed out a stone wall built by the Turn to page 9 col. 4

Britain and Reich Reach Agreement On Austrian Debts

London—(AP)—An announcement that British and German negotiators had reached an agreement on Austrian external loans was made today by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer.

Sir John told the house of commons that "without prejudice to the question of legal liability, the German government will reimburse the United Kingdom government for any sums paid in respect of their (Britain's) guarantees of the Austrian guaranteed loans and will insure full service of the bonds of these loans owned by British holders on July 1, 1938."

Default on payments on Austrian bond issues since Germany's annexation of Austria have brought protests from the United States, Britain, France and other countries.

Seven Men Killed in Rock Fall in Mine

Birmingham, Ala.—(AP)—Seven men were killed and several others injured today in a rock fall 3,000 feet underground in the Praceo col mine of the Alabama By-Products company.

Dr. C. E. Elgin, company physician, called company offices here to announce the seven deaths and ask for additional doctors and rescue workers.

Two crews attempted to cut through a rock ledge which separated the main workings of the mine from the section in which the fall occurred.

Dr. Elgin said two injured men had been brought out, but they were not in the section cut off by the rock fall.

Praceo is 20 miles northwest of Birmingham in an isolated section. Rescue crews from Birmingham and Jasper were sent to Praceo. W. B. Hillhouse, state mine inspector, left for the mine to direct rescue operations.

Easton Makes No Plea In Slaying of Officer

Michigan City, Ind.—(AP)—Oreille Easton, 23-year-old Valley City, N. D. farmhand, made no plea when arraigned today on an indictment charging first degree murder in the slaying Sunday of State Policeman A. Easton's request, Judge Russell W. Smith said he would name an attorney for him later today and postponed further action until next Tuesday.

The slender, youthful Easton was lodged in the LaPorte jail last night after a two-hour automobile ride from Kankakee, Ill., where his extradition was ordered yesterday. Easton has insisted his brother, Clarence, 27, fired the shots that killed Dixon as the latter approached their apparently stalled automobile near LaPorte to offer aid.

Former Sheriff Picks Out Wrong Man at Hearing

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Curious to see extradition proceedings conducted, Representative Reed Cutler of Lewiston wandered into a hearing.

A. J. Moran, former sheriff of Waukegan, Wis., in pleading for the return of Simon A. Murray of Chicago to face bribery charges, was asked to identify the fugitive.

The former sheriff leveled a finger at Cutler, and declared, "That's the man."

Murray was pointed out, but the sheriff said he wasn't the one.

Murray left the hearing, safe from extradition because of the sheriff's failure to identify him, and Cutler, his face red, mumbled that it would be a long time before his curiosity prompted him to attend another hearing.

Roosevelt Wants Economic Study In Southern Area

Similar Survey May Be Made Later in Other Sections of U. S.

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt, it was learned today, has asked the National Emergency council to report to him on economic conditions in the south.

The success of the unusual undertaking, a high government official said, will determine whether similar surveys will be made of New England and the industrial east, the far west, the farm belt, and other areas with common economic interests.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote Lowell Mellett, executive director of the council, that the studies should produce "a clear and concise statement of the needs and problems of the different sections of the country."

"Attention has recently been focused particularly upon the south in connection with the wages and hours bill," the president's letter said.

Calls Meeting

Acting on Mr. Roosevelt's instructions, Mellett has called a meeting of 20 prominent southern citizens and public officials for next Tuesday. These men will serve as an advisory committee in preparing the southern study on the basis of government information already compiled.

The group, which includes one governor—Carl Bailey of Arkansas—and utility executives, lawyers, college presidents, bankers, business men, A. F. of L. and CIO executives and others, will be supplied with data by federal experts.

The latter also will address the conference, scheduled to last either one or two days. It will cover all major topics bearing directly on conditions in the south.

Seek Motive in Murder Mystery

Motion Picture Camera Man Slain Under Puzzling Circumstances

Hollywood—(AP)—A cold trail of death baffled police today in efforts to solve the strange, half-fiction slaying of a middle-aged movie camera man.

Under circumstances more puzzling than the plot of a detective novel, 32-year-old King D. Gray, who "didn't have an enemy in the world," was found lifeless in his car in front of the Hollywood post office at noon yesterday.

A bullet wound was in his chest. He had been dead, a surgeon said, from 8 to 15 hours, unnoticed by hundreds of passersby.

He clapped a letter from Newcastle, Pa., with the salutation "Dear Daddy," Captain J. J. Jones said it was from a woman, whom he declined to name, and had been taken from a post office box which Gray apparently rented without the knowledge of his intimates.

Hysterical with grief, Mrs. Gray told officers her husband came home Wednesday night and left again with a man at 9 p. m.

"He seemed just as usual—cheerful and not worried," she said.

Detectives discarded the possibility Gray shot himself. They picked up an empty 32-caliber automatic shell in his car but could not find the death weapon. There were no powder burns on his coat.

Count Appears in British Court.

Promises Not to Interfere With Wife, Denies He Is Carrying Gun

London—(AP)—A spruce but unhappy appearing Count Court Hanbury-Revelant arrived from France today and won his freedom on 2,000 pound ($30,000) bail when hustled before a Bow street magistrate on the charge he threatened his wife, the American-born, twice-widowed Barbara Hutton, with "bodily harm."

In his brief appearance in court he promised not to interfere with or communicate with her and told the magistrate through his attorney that he was not carrying a pistol.

The gun, he said, was locked up in the Georgian style mansion in Regent's park where the countess has fortified herself and 2-year-old son, Lance, behind a guard.

The proceeding was part of the quarrel over the future of the boy,

Commission Is Beaten in Suit Against Bank

Judge Kleczka Dismisses Action Facing First Wisconsin National

83-PAGE DECISION

Finds Bank Had Valid Claim to Money Loaned To Rosenberg

Milwaukee—(AP)—Circuit Judge John C. Kleczka today dismissed the suit of the state banking commission to recover $583,000 from the First Wisconsin National bank.

Judge Kleczka's 83-page decision, climaxing the longest and one of the most important civil trials in Milwaukee county history, found that the bank had a valid claim to the money which had been loaned to J. J. Rosenberg, former president of the defunct Liberty State bank, in 1931 and 1932, before the Liberty closed July 18, 1932.

The commission charged that Rosenberg, with knowledge of First Wisconsin bank officers, obtained five loans from the First Wisconsin shortly before bank call dates.

The commission said the purpose of the "window dressing" was to reduce bills payable of the Liberty. Rosenberg served a term in state prison upon conviction on a charge of falsifying his bank's records.

Judge Kleczka found that the plan originated solely with Rosenberg, and that the Liberty's board of directors, and the banking commission as well, had knowledge of it.

The decision came after the court analyzed 2,500,000 words of testimony, 1,075 pages of briefs, and 1,219 exhibits.

Judge's Findings

Judge Kleczka found that the plan did not sustain the commission's contention that the plan was a virtual conspiracy between Rosenberg and officers of the First Wisconsin. It was legal for a bank such as the First Wisconsin to make loans to individuals such as Rosenberg, and such loans must be repaid, the court decided.

The court, in making known his decision to attorneys in his courtroom, emphasized that the First Wisconsin's $583,000 claim already had been paid, and that the payment had been made by the banking commission with full knowledge of the facts, in the ordinary course of litigation.

Judge Kleczka also entered a judgment adjudicating the First Wisconsin's claim against the banking commission in a countersuit, holding that payment of the claim was valid.

The court advised attorneys to analyze the decision and advise him by July 7 whether they wished to present their opinions, in memorandum form.

Wolf Murder Case Placed in Hands of Jury in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(AP)—A municipal court jury of 11 men and one woman retired today to debate the fate of Oswald Wolf, 38, charged with the hammer murder of his wife, Elsa, after hearing District Attorney Herbert J. Steffes term the defendant a "cold blooded murderer who killed in anger."

The prosecutor asked for a verdict of first degree murder for Wolf who pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

The jury was empowered to return one of five verdicts: first, second, or third degree murder, not guilty, or not guilty by reason of insanity.

The state completed rebuttal testimony late yesterday after three alienists, Drs. R. A. Jefferson, A. I. Rosenberger and Herbert W. Powers, testified they believed Wolf was sane when he killed his wife with a stonecutter's hammer last April.

Dr. Samuel Pfahner, Milwaukee psychiatrist, had testified earlier he believed the defendant was suffering from "temporary and impulsive insanity" at the time of the slaying.

Negro Slayer Given Life Term at Prison

Milwaukee—(AP)—Roy Johnson, 31, a Negro, was sentenced today by Judge Vax W. Nohl to a life term in state prison. Johnson was found guilty by a municipal court jury of murdering Mattie Allen, a Negroess, June 12.

Johnson was charged with slaying Allen on a street in Milwaukee after a quarrel over a woman.

Treaty Ends Long Dispute Between France and Turkey

Military Agreement Is Included in Friendship Pact

Paris—(AP)—The French government announced today the conclusion of a treaty of friendship with Turkey ending long discord over the strategic sanjak (district) of Alexandretta and a military agreement believed to be of far-reaching importance.

The foreign office announced conclusion of negotiations for the following:

1. Franco-Turkish treaty of friendship.

A military agreement by which France and Turkey on a basis of equality jointly guarantee the internal and external security of numbers of French and Turkish Alexandretta and by which equal troops will be stationed in Alexandretta from today.

A six months' collaboration between France, Turkey and Syria pending the negotiation of a three-year treaty of friendship and good neighborliness.

The announcement said the Franco-Turkish treaty would be signed at Ankara and the military accord at Alexandretta, both within 48 hours.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet is expected to negotiate the three-year friendship pact during a visit to Turkey in September.

The declaration establishing the six months' collaboration between the three states can, however, be prolonged for a further six months should the treaty negotiations be delayed.

Officials refrained from specifying the exact nature of the military provisions of the accord pending signature. But the negotiators, Bonnet and the saute Turkish ambassador, Suad Davaz, were understood to have agreed that France would recognize Turkey's neutrality in the event of war.

Man and 2 Women Face Charges of 'Insurance Killing'

Waycross, Ga.—(AP)—Harvey Nelson, roadhouse operator, and two women employees were held today for grand jury action July 25 in what Solicitor General John S. Gibson described as an "insurance slaying" of the man's 10-year-old son J. C. Nelson.

Gibson said Nelson confessed a plot to kill the boy and named Verna Mae Fowler and Mary Kent as conspirators who drew straws to determine which would shoot him.

Nelson declared Verna Mae Fowler drew the fatal straw, the prosecutor said, and shot the boy with a pistol upon his return from school May 26, two nights after "they all met and decided on how the $900 insurance money would be divided."

Officers said the case was first reversed by suicide when the boy was found on the back porch of Nelson's place of business.

License of Tomahawk Physician Is Revoked

Milwaukee—(AP)—The state board of medical examiners, meeting today at Marquette University Medical school revoked the license of Dr. Raymond J. Henderson, 32, of Tomahawk to practice medicine in Wisconsin.

Dr. Henry J. Gramling, Milwaukee, secretary of the board, said the action was taken as a result of the conviction of Dr. Henderson in 1934 of performing two illegal operations.

Slugged and Robbed of $310. Florida Man Says

Milwaukee—(AP)—Irving Chinitz of Miami Beach, Fla., reported to Lieutenant Walter Mc Carque of the sheriff's department last night he had been struck on the head and robbed of $310 in money and jewelry by two men and a woman on highway 41 near the city limits.

Chinitz was standing in a line at a gas station when he was approached by the three persons.

The woman, who was wearing a dark coat and a hat, struck Chinitz on the head with a hard object, and then the two men forced him into a car.

The car drove off, and Chinitz was left lying on the ground. He was taken to the hospital, where he is now recovering from his injuries.

Can't be Set Aside Because Prisoner Didn't Complain

UNANIMOUS RULING

'Sentence Not Void but Merely Erroneous,' Tribunal Says

Madison—(AP)—The state supreme court refused today to interfere with the one to two year sentence in the Milwaukee House of Correction imposed upon Thomas M. Duncan, former secretary to Governor LaFollette, who was convicted of manslaughter in a hit-run automobile death.

The court denied the petition of District Attorney Herbert J. Steffes of Milwaukee for leave to bring an original action which would compel Circuit Judge Gullick N. Risjord prison for five to ten years.

It dismissed the petition filed by the district attorney, who contended that Judge Risjord, after finding Duncan guilty of first degree manslaughter, had no legal right to reduce the charge to fourth degree manslaughter for the purpose of imposing a lighter sentence.

Convicted June 3

Duncan was convicted at Milwaukee June 3 of driving an automobile while intoxicated and causing the death of Henry F. Schuetz, a resident of West Allis business man, in an accident on the Wisconsin avenue viaduct. Duncan is now serving his sentence in the house of correction.

The supreme court declared in a unanimous opinion, written by Justice Chester D. Fowler, that Judge Risjord acted erroneously, but it held the sentence is not void and cannot be set aside because the prisoner is not complaining.

The opinion said:

"This court has no power over sentences by a lower court in criminal cases unless the sentences are brought before it for review by the defendant, on appeal by writ of error, or by habeas corpus in the case of a void sentence."

"If the trial court acted within its jurisdiction in imposing a sentence, no matter how erroneous it may be, its determination cannot be reviewed by this court in a proceeding in mandamus."

Steffes had asked for a writ of mandamus against Judge Risjord. "Erroneous" Sentence

"We consider the sentence imposed (on Duncan) not void but merely erroneous," the court continued.

"It goes without saying that if jeopardy is attached and a dismissal is entered or a sentence imposed and the action thereby brought to a determination, the defendant cannot again be put in jeopardy by an action taken by the state."

The supreme court's decision upheld all of the contentions of District Attorney Steffes except upon the vital question of whether it should interfere.

The court said:

"No jurisdiction

"While it appears that the trial judge should not have found the defendant guilty of fourth degree manslaughter or sentence him on such a charge, but should have sentenced him on a first degree charge, of which he expressly found him guilty, it does not follow that this court has jurisdiction to do anything about it upon the application of the state."

The court explained that with the trial court acting in the capacity of both judge and jury, Duncan having waived a jury trial, the situation was much the same as if a jury had returned two verdicts.

However, the decision added, there was no ground on which the supreme court in this instance, could exercise its superintending control.

Wausau Man Killed in Brokaw Mill Tragedy

Wausau—(AP)—Raymond Luckette, 30, Wausau, was crushed to death today when he was caught between paper machine rollers at the Wausau Paper Mills company plant in Brokaw. The accident occurred a few minutes before his shift was up. The paper mill reopened Monday after being closed down since May 29 when a part of the power dam and the hydro-electric plant dropped into the Wisconsin river.

U. S. Taxes Taken From Dozen Items: Higher on Liquor

Washington—(AP)—Federal taxes were removed today from a dozen items such as tooth paste and matches, but the levy was increased on liquor.

The items relieved of "nuisance taxes" beginning last midnight are: Tooth paste, soaps and other toilet articles, 5 per cent; furs, 3 per cent; phonograph records, 5 per cent; sporting goods, 10 per cent; cameras and lenses, 10 per cent; chewing gum, 2 per cent; matches, 2 cents per thousand; plain wooden matches and one-half cent per thousand on paper matches.

The tax on newly manufactured liquor was increased from $2 to $2.25 a gallon.

Senate Committee May Ask Hopkins to Testify on Use Of WPA Money in Politics

Walsh Thinks WPA Administrator Will Be Invited to Appear

Washington—The senate campaign funds committee may call Harry Hopkins, the WPA administrator, to testify about contentions that relief money has been used for political purposes.

Senator Walsh (D-Mass.), a committee member, said today he thought that sooner or later the committee should invite Hopkins to appear before it. Informed persons said in such an event Walsh would suggest that he cooperate with the committee in "removing even the suspicion" that the WPA is playing politics.

In a statement yesterday Walsh refused a speech by Aubrey Williams in which the deputy WPA administrator urged unemployed to keep their friends in power.

Speech "Unfortunate"

The speech already has been termed "unfortunate" by the senate committee, which decided last yesterday not to alter that comment.

Walsh, speaking as a member of the Democratic party, asserted that any use of relief funds for political purposes "is not only indefensible, but shocking to the public conscience."

Walsh asserted he was "not unkind" that "unfounded allegations" will be made that federal funds are or will be used to influence voters.

"But this," he added, "is an additional reason why office-holders charged with the administration of these funds should scrupulously avoid by speech or act even the suspicion of political motive."

Hopkins said yesterday that the WPA would deal quickly with proved charges of political coercion but that "we will be equally prompt in exposing any accusations trumped up to serve the political ambitions of those who are opposed to this administration."

Seeking Renomination

His statement was issued in reply to allegations of "politics in relief" in Kentucky, where Senator Albert W. Barkley is seeking Democratic renomination against Governor A. B. Chandler. The charges were made in articles by Thomas L. Stokes published in Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Hopkins said a WPA inquiry had found basis existed for only two of 22 charges. In the latter cases, he said, one WPA straw-boss had been told to refrain from politics and "punitive action" had been ordered against another.

Stokes, in a statement replying to Hopkins, said:

"It is perhaps natural that our reports should disagree. The motives were different. I was sent to Kentucky as a reporter. I had no other instructions than to write the facts as I found them. I had no axe to grind. I lay no claims to infallibility. I made a careful investigation, in good faith, and I stand on my conclusions."

Red Cross Pleads For Safety on 4th

Suggests Three Rules of Safe Conduct to Follow Over Weekend

A 72-hour holiday over the Fourth of July this year, with a potential accidental death toll of 1,000 persons caused the American Red Cross today to issue an appeal for caution in the use of fireworks against automobile accidents and drownings.

The Red Cross suggests three rules of safe conduct to cut the Fourth's annual death toll.

Obey state laws regulating the sale and use of fireworks.

Drive as though every other car on the road were not quite under control.

Do not swim alone and swim preferably at patrolled beaches.

Last year 1,200 persons were killed accidentally during the month of July and the fourth day of the month chiefly was responsible for the high total.

Outagami county chapter added its appeal for safety through Mrs. Mabel C. Shannon, executive secretary, who requested parents to supervise the shooting of fireworks if their children must shoot them.

4-H Members Will Hold 4-Day Camping Period

The county 4-H leaders committee has announced that the summer camp will be held on the Allen site near the Wolf river, a mile south of Leeman, July 7, 8, 9, and 10.

The 4-H members will live in tents during the camping period. A program of swimming, sports, handicraft, and entertainment is planned.

Interest Aroused In James' Ability To Sell Insurance

Magazine Article Says President's Son Earned Sizeable Salary

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Much interest has been aroused here over the achievements of James Roosevelt, the president's son, whose activities in the insurance business have been estimated, according to an article in the Saturday Evening Post this week, to yield somewhere between $250,000 and $1,000,000 a year.

Naturally, out of this sum, young Roosevelt has to pay huge taxes, so it is unfair to assume that all of this sum represents clear profit. But the gross earnings, nevertheless, are so sizable as to attract the attention of many people inside and outside the official group who envy the money-making propensities of the president's son.

The fact that James Roosevelt has been engaged in the insurance business is no secret to Washington folks. The names of some of his prominent clients—the big business men of the "economic royalist" group and others—have been banded about for a long time. It was inevitable that the insurance solicitors who were adversely affected by young Roosevelt's competition should recite their grievances and "that was the whole matter" should get into print.

Did He Mention Father?

Whether young Roosevelt mentioned his father's position in soliciting insurance or in other ways hinted at the value of giving him business because of the family relationship is the one thing on which proof would have to be furnished if a congressional committee were some day to look into the matter.

For, after all, even a president's son is not stopped from engaging in any business, including life insurance. Was there or is there anything illegal on the part of the president's son in engaging in the insurance business itself? Certainly not. It is the connection with his father's position which alone raises a question of ethics.

As for the question of ethics, President Roosevelt himself, when governor of New York, ruled as follows:

"It is not illegal for a relative of a public officer to be in the surety business. It is not illegal for a contractor to get his bonds through this relative. Yet the whole business is indefensibly unethical."

It goes without saying that the president has known about the insurance activities of his son. He doubtless has cautioned him not in any remote sense to imply that governmental favors or anything else will be forthcoming to the clients. But, as for the insurance agents who are beaten out by the competition, they are represented as having believed that thoughts of possible political advantage motivated the clients in preferring young Roosevelt to them.

Who Would Testify?

Hardly any of these clients probably would testify as to what their motives were, and even if they did assume that some political advantage would ensue from doing business with the president's son, the latter might insist that, so far as he was concerned, it was a legitimate business transaction and nobody made mention of any such deal to him. Incidentally, it seems incredible that young Roosevelt, who knows his way around in things political, would ever consciously do anything which would permit critics to make any such attack. Since both Jimmy and the president have heard about these charges from time to time before, they must have discussed the proprieties and it would be surprising if the president, knowing the stories which were being circulated among insurance men, would not take whatever steps he could to clear up any such misunderstandings as apparently now have arisen.

The president's dilemma is further intensified by the fact that nowadays there is so much such feeling. People give voice to such bitter expressions about individuals who make large sums of money. Perhaps the present incident would furnish an opportune occasion for the president to make a pronouncement about the value of private initiative and the profit system itself, pointing out that there ought to be no limit to what human ingenuity can earn in a world of free competition.

Now A Secretary

Then, there is the assumption that men who earn large sums of money have no spirit of public service. Jimmy Roosevelt has refuted this by giving his entire time to the government in his capacity as secretary to the president where he receives only about $10,000 a year. This is quite a sacrifice for anyone to make who has an earning capacity of from $250,000 to $1,000,000 a year, though his income from previous business would be much larger.

Round-Table Discussions To Be Held Aug. 1 to 6

Chicago—A series of "round-table" discussions on political and economic problems will be conducted Aug. 1 to 6 by the Republican program committee. Chairman Glenn Frank announced today.

Dr. Frank said the session, to be held at Northwestern university, Evanston, would be in the nature of an "institute of public problems."

In attendance will be approximately 150 committee members and 25 technical advisers.

Labor, agriculture, social security, finance, relief, and civil service and political liberty were listed as the principal problems to be considered.

The discussions constitute a part of the committee's research project embodying three principal objectives, namely, an audit of the New Deal, a report of policy on national issues, and a statement of the party's political and economic philosophy in the light of current conditions.

Committee headquarters said "summer study meetings" under the auspices of a political party were current practice in Great Britain but a novelty in this country.

Study Basic Problems

"They now are initiated by the Republican program committee because of the mandate put upon it by the Republican National Committee to make a thorough study of all basic national problems before presenting to the Republican party its final program of proposed national policies."

Subcommittees which have been seeking a cross section of opinion in nine geographical regions will submit reports. These will be combined with the results of the round-table discussions for the consideration of the entire committee during the closing days of the session.

Discussions will be conducted during morning and afternoon sessions. Evenings will be devoted to public addresses by outstanding figures in the fields of economic and governmental affairs.

"Round-Table Leaders"

Dr. Frank said the following would serve as "round-table leaders":

Labor—Spencer Miller, Jr., technical adviser to the international labor conference of 1935, and a member of the social science faculty of Fordham university, and formerly of the political science faculty of Columbia university.

Agriculture—Dr. Asher H. Hobson, head of the University of Wisconsin Department of Agricultural Economics, and formerly director of markets of the state of Washington.

Social security—Morris A. Linton, president of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance company, Philadelphia, and member of the advisory council on social security appointed by the federal social security board and the senate finance committee.

Finance—James H. Douglas, Jr., minister of the insurance business, long after the original contract was written.

Seven Wisconsin Civil War Vets on Way to Gettysburg

Milwaukee—Seven Wisconsin Civil war veterans, "boys in blue" from the Grand Army of the Republic, were on their way today to Gettysburg, Pa., to join 20,000 former Union and Confederate soldiers meeting on the battlefield of a war fought three-quarters of a century ago.

The veterans, who left by train yesterday after a state G. A. R. encampment here, were Captain Henry Held, 92, West Allis; W. H. Chesbrough, 93, Beloit; Balthasar Regli, 94, Eau Claire; A. R. Kilbe, 94, New Richmond; and Erich Westenhagen, 93, William P. Bryant, 91, and Joseph Horle, 96, all of Milwaukee.

Six other Wisconsin veterans had left earlier for the blue and gray meeting.

Republican Policy Committee Plans Series of Confabs

'Round-Table' Discussions To Be Held Aug. 1 to 6

Chicago—A series of "round-table" discussions on political and economic problems will be conducted Aug. 1 to 6 by the Republican program committee. Chairman Glenn Frank announced today.

Dr. Frank said the session, to be held at Northwestern university, Evanston, would be in the nature of an "institute of public problems."

In attendance will be approximately 150 committee members and 25 technical advisers.

Labor, agriculture, social security, finance, relief, and civil service and political liberty were listed as the principal problems to be considered.

The discussions constitute a part of the committee's research project embodying three principal objectives, namely, an audit of the New Deal, a report of policy on national issues, and a statement of the party's political and economic philosophy in the light of current conditions.

Committee headquarters said "summer study meetings" under the auspices of a political party were current practice in Great Britain but a novelty in this country.

Study Basic Problems

"They now are initiated by the Republican program committee because of the mandate put upon it by the Republican National Committee to make a thorough study of all basic national problems before presenting to the Republican party its final program of proposed national policies."

Subcommittees which have been seeking a cross section of opinion in nine geographical regions will submit reports. These will be combined with the results of the round-table discussions for the consideration of the entire committee during the closing days of the session.

There will be persons, of course, who will read into Jimmy Roosevelt's activities some implication of politics. Perhaps the fact that he did interview so many people who directly or indirectly do business with the government was "unfortunate"—to use Senator Sheppard's now famous phrase about Aubrey Williams—but, if Jimmy Roosevelt becomes hard pressed for explanations or answers, he needs only refer to a recent firing chat and argue that when solicited the insurance business he wasn't the son of the president of the United States at all but only the son of "the head of the Democratic party." That, doubtless, would make it all right with the radio audience anyway.

Numerous Picnics To Mark Appleton July Activities

Vacations at Summer Camps, Baseball Among Month's Offerings

Except for the Half the Life of the Nation celebration to be sponsored July 2, 3 and 4 at Erb park by the junior chamber of commerce, there will be few important events in the city during the coming month. But innumerable small picnics—there is hardly an organization in town that isn't planning one—vacations at summer camps and baseball games are among the offerings of the July calendar.

The Fox River valley tennis tournament to be held July 4 to 11 is not an Appleton event, but it will be played at Neenah-Menasha, close enough to attract a large number of Appleton tennis fans.

Among the players will be Bobbie Kings, Chicago, defending champion, Frankie Parker, Milwaukee, member of the Davis cup team, Elwood Cooke, Portland, Ore., and others whose names are well known in tennis circles.

Civic projects in which the entire community is interested this month are the resurfacing of College avenue, which begins July 5, and the $141,000 general park improvement under the WPA program, which starts July 11. The work will include landscaping, tree planting and road repaving.

Fishing Week

The Appleton Post-Crescent's Dad and Son fishing contest ends July 5.

Camps to which young people of Appleton and the vicinity will flock this month are the Girl Scout camp at Chain o' Lakes, Waunakee, now in session; the Boy Scout camp which opens July 10 at Gardiner Dam; the Y.M.C.A. camp which opens July 26 at Onaway island, Chain o' Lakes; and the camp for 4-H clubs of the county July 7, 8, 9 and 10 at the Allen camp site on the Wolf river, a mile south of Leeman.

Social events of the month, except for the various picnics, are largely confined to the country clubs. In addition to its weekly events, Riverview Country club will have two formal parties this month, the junior dance July 11 and the senior dinner-dance July 30. North Shore Golf club has a dinner-dance scheduled for July 23.

In the world of sports there are baseball games and golf and tennis tournaments. On July 4 the Kaukauna baseball team, member of the Northern State league, will play at Clintonville in the final game of the first round schedule. Kaukauna is expected to share or win the championship.

The weekend of July 10 will see most of the baseball teams start their second round of play, where the leagues are playing split seasons. Most of the softball leagues will also start their second rounds next week. Scheduled for July 14, 15 and 16 is the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf Association tournament at Pine Hills Country club, Sheboygan, in which a large number of Appleton and Neenah-Menasha golfers will compete.

Secure 5 Skills for Gardner Dam Campers

Six trips, a new diversion for campers, will be introduced at Gardner Dam Scout camp when the first group of boys arrive there July 10 according to Walter Dixon, valley scout executive.

Five skills have been secured and will be delivered to the camp site next week. The skills trips will be added to canoe trips, raft hikes, wilderness and overnight hikes already included on the camp program.

Congress 'Seniority Rule' Is Object of League Attack

BY RUBY A. BLACK

Washington—Despite the opposition of many members of congress to the "seniority rule" which places men elected long ago at the heads of the important committees, and gives the south the majority of these posts in a Democratic congress, the proposal of Labor's Non-Partisan League that this system be abolished faces a long, rough, and rocky road.

The fact is that there is no "rule." It's just a custom, which prevails in both the senate and the house of representatives, both in the Republican and the Democratic organization thereof.

The key committees are controlled by men elected from "safe" districts years ago, and reelected term after term. The LNPL analysis shows that, out of 46 standing committees in the house, 10 have chairmen elected in 1932 or later, 36 have chairmen elected earlier, and only five of these 36 were elected as late as 1930.

11 Before 1918

"Three-quarters of the committee chairmen were elected to congress in the days when national issues were of the John Davis versus Calvin Coolidge, Cox versus Harding, or Smith versus Hoover type. Eleven of them were elected in 1918 or earlier," says E. L. Oliver, executive vice president of the league.

This, he continues, makes impossible a "political mechanism" which will translate into law the popular decisions determined at the polls.

Although two-thirds of the present house membership were elected in 1932 or later, they can't change the seniority rule except by major revolt, as it is the Democratic members of the ways and means committee who control appointments to committees. Of the 18 Democrats on this committee, the six youngest in point of service have all served three consecutive terms, having first been elected in 1932.

Elected in 1910

The chairman, Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, was first elected in 1910. If the Republicans should take over the house, Allen T. Treadway of Massachusetts, first elected in 1912, would be chairman. There is now no republican on the ways and means committee who was first elected later than 1932.

Republicans choose their assignments to committees by a "committee on committees," consisting of a member from each state which has a republican member of congress. The state delegation makes the selection, and usually one of the older members is chosen.

Other chairmen and ranking republican members of important house committees, and the dates of their first election to congress are:

Appropriations, Edward T. Taylor, Colo., chairman, 1908; John Taber, N. Y., who, as ranking minority member, would be chairman if Republicans were in power, 1922.

Judiciary, Hatton W. Sumners, Texas, chairman, 1912; U. S. Guyer, Kas., ranking republican, 1924.

Banking and Currency, Henry B. Steagall, Ala., chairman, 1914; Clifford R. Hope, Kans., ranking republican, 1926.

Interstate Commerce

Interstate and Foreign Commerce, Clarence F. Lea, Calif., chairman, 1916; Carl E. Mappes, Mich., ranking republican, 1912.

Rivers and Harbors, Joseph J. Mangfield, Tex., chairman, 1916; George N. Seger, N. J., ranking republican, 1922.

Rules, John O'Connor, N. Y., chairman, 1923; Joseph W. Martin Jr., Mass., ranking republican, 1924.

Merchant Marine and Fisheries, Schuyler Otis Bland, Va., chairman, 1918; Richard J. Walsh, Calif., ranking republican, 1926.

Agriculture, Marvin Jones, Tex., chairman, 1916; Clifford R. Hope, Kans., ranking republican, 1926.

Naval Affairs, Carl Vinson, Ga., chairman, 1914; Melvin J. Mass, Minn., ranking republican, 1926.

Inasmuch as congressmen from the south and from machine-controlled districts stand the best chance of being re-elected year after year, they have first chance, as a rule, at committee chairmanships.

Now, 20 committees in the house have southern chairmen, while four have Tammany chairmen. Texas could have had other chairmen, but relinquished a few to make it easier to elect Sam Rayburn of Texas to be majority leader.

Liberals in congress have long kicked about the seniority system, "gag rule," and the "seniorship over bills" exercised by the rule committee. But they have achieved little.

McCormick's Body Found on Lonely Mountain Cliff

Barnes, Jr., his sister, speaking for his family.

Just a few hours later, Frank C. W. Foster, United States regional forester, announced the finding of the body. Said he:

"It has been established with practical certainty that a body found early this afternoon on a cliff north of Sandia peak is the body of Medill McCormick."

Medill's broken body lay guarded on an almost inaccessible ledge.

Parties of sturdy Indians and United States Forest Service workers began at daybreak the long, hazardous journey to bring it back to the Albuquerque home he left June 22 on an ill-fated climbing expedition.

In Remote Spot

The body was found crumpled on the side of a towering Granite cliff, on the northeast face of Sandia peak.

Veteran mountaineers said it would be late today before the shattered form could be brought out. So remote was the spot on which it lay that word of the find did not reach Albuquerque until after nightfall.

The body was discovered almost precisely on the opposite side of the knife-like peak from the ledge on which the lifeless form of Richard Whittier, the young man's 20-year-old companion, was found last Friday.

It had come to rest on a narrow shelf, about 250 feet from the top and 400 from the bottom of the peaks sheer rock face.

Experienced woodsmen of the forest service expressed belief a lightning flash might have tumbled both youths to their deaths from the knife-edged crest of the mountain.

Said they it was possible that such a flash, running along the rim only two to three feet wide in places, could have sent McCormick plunging down the east face, while Whittier, a Princeton student from Albuquerque, fell to the west.

Speech by Frank, Parade, Fireworks Weekend Features

"Half the Life of the Nation" Civic Celebration Opens Tomorrow

A big parade tomorrow afternoon, an address Sunday afternoon by Glenn Frank, national Republican chairman on policy, 40 free acts, and spectacular fireworks displays Sunday and Monday evenings will be the highlights of the Half the Life of the Nation Civic celebration which the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor over the July Fourth weekend.

The parade will move down the business stretch of College avenue, but the celebration proper will be centered at Erb park, where rides and concessions will provide a true carnival spirit during the 3-day event.

The celebration will open at the park at 7:15 tomorrow night, with a cracker eating contest as the first feature and seven free acts following.

Will Honor Frank

Frank will be honored at a luncheon at noon Sunday at Butte des Morts Golf club at which Republican leaders of this territory will be present. He will talk at the luncheon and will appear at Erb park at 3 o'clock that afternoon.

One of the celebration's biggest features will be the crowning of the popularity queens at 2:15 Monday afternoon at the park. There have been two contests running since last month, one in the city and one in the city's trading area. The two first place winners in each contest will receive a 10-day all-expense trip to Bermuda, second place winners a Great Lakes cruise, and the two girls finishing in third position will be awarded valuable wrist watches.

Aerial Exhibitions

Preceding the crowning of the popularity queens Monday afternoon will be an aerial exhibition by Clinton Schmidt of Appleton. In his exhibition he will use a newly designed racing machine capable of 200 miles an hour. It is one of the fastest planes in the state.

The 200-piece student band from Van Zeeland Music company will be the first to appear on the program at the opening tomorrow evening. Other acts scheduled are the Honolulu Serenaders of Clintonville; Ken and Roy, guitar players from Appleton; Mona Kea string ensemble, Kaukauna; Carl Wolfgang, yodeling cowboy, Mona Leung, string teasers, Menasha; Audrey and Jean Mitchell, popular song artists, Kaukauna.

Acrobats, Too

Following Frank's talk on Sunday, an acrobatic troupe from Manitowoc will perform, showing tricks on the teeter board and barrels, and presenting a couple up-roarious clowns. Other acts scheduled for that afternoon are the Normandie Act; James Lopus, accordion soloist; Ralph Becker and his $1,000 accordion, The Shire Sisters, hill billy sisters; Tex Pierce and Blondie, the Wonder Horse; Clifford Forester and his harmonica; Beyer Twins of Shiocton in boxing and wrestling exhibition.

Carol Culbertson, the youngest accordionist in the Fox River valley, will be one of the featured performers in the evening program. Following the crowning of the queens Monday afternoon, Mick Kulogo and Dwayne Mentzel, singing and road duet of Menasha, will perform. The Buccaneers of Little Chute, Darrel Lester, the singing cowboy, the Wash Board Play Boys, and another amateur contest will be among the acts presented the remainder of the afternoon.

Five acts are scheduled Monday evening, with a gigantic fireworks display capping the celebration.

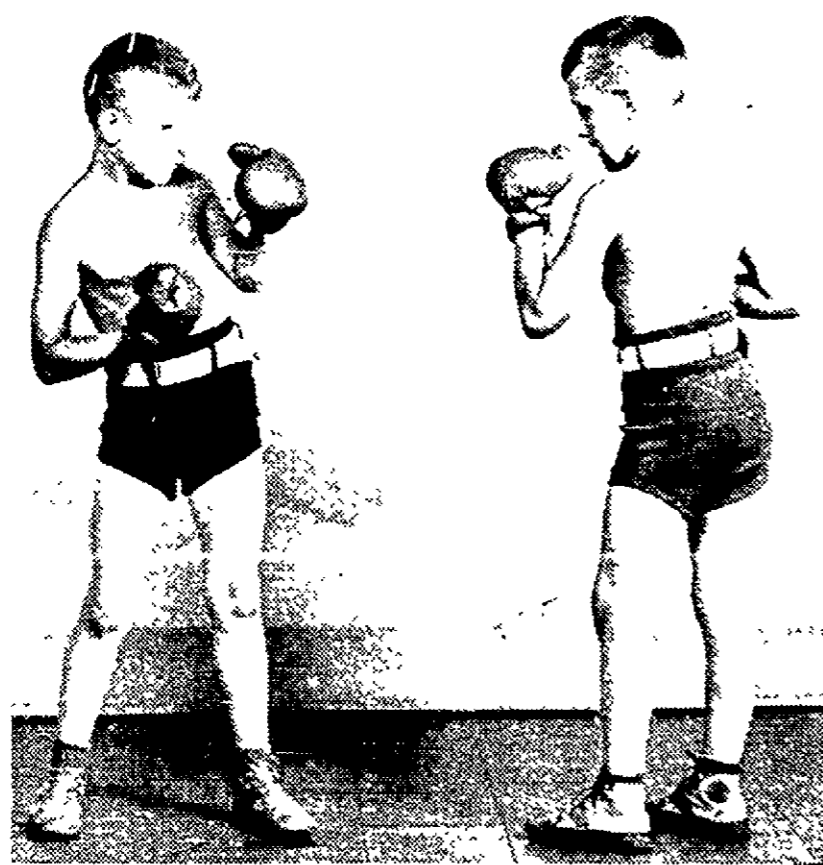

Neenah to Celebrate

Neenah will celebrate the Fourth of July with a full-day program sponsored by the James P. Hawley post, American Legion, at Riverside park.

The program will start at 9:30 in the morning with outboard motor boat races and sail boat races by the Neenah Motor Boat club and the Neenah Nodaway Yacht club respectively.

Following a picnic lunch at noon, children will compete in 28 contests, the winners of which will receive prizes. At 2:30, tickets for free ice cream and candy will be distributed to children under 12 years of age. There also will be games for adults throughout the afternoon.

Their boxing and wrestling exhibitions will be among the 40 free acts that will be presented at Erb park under the sponsorship of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The twins will appear on Sunday and Monday afternoons.

Sleep Sickness Serious Threat To Farm Horses

Proper Preventive Measures Can Save Animals From Disease

Sleeping sickness took a large toll in the horse population in the state last year, according to information received by R. C. Swanson, agricultural agent, and two cases have already appeared in Wisconsin this year.

The Horse and Mule association of Wisconsin is conducting the campaign of this disease has given the control measures considerable publicity. In correspondence the association offers the following information and suggestions:

"In Minnesota where it was worst the disease appeared on 29,767 farms, where 137,463 horses were owned. Only 41,159 of these had the disease, (26 per cent) and 9,200 died — that is, 22 per cent of those noticeably sick died. Most of those lost were due to failure to treat promptly. Other states were less affected.

"This means that when the disease appears in a community, 75 per cent of the horses probably will escape, even if nothing is done; when proper preventive measures are used, 99 per cent will escape infection.

"The disease is seasonal, is known to be carried by mosquitoes and probably by flies. So far as is known it is transmitted in no other way.

"Protection against mosquitoes and flies is therefore the first essential. If the disease appears in an area, horses and mules should be kept in screened stables at night and when not at work from about July 1 until after frost.

Protect Animals

When work animals should be protected with muslin or burlap covers, extending all over from head to tail. Heads, legs, and muslin covers should be sprayed with a good insect repellent about every 24 hours, just before going to work morning and noon, and in the middle of forenoon and afternoon.

"The bureau of animal industry recommends a home made insect spray. They say: 'An effective and rather inexpensive spray material may be prepared by extracting pyrethrum flowers in kerosene for 48 hours, using one pound of the flowers to a gallon of kerosene. Two parts of this extract are then thoroughly mixed with one part of water containing three to five per cent of soft soap. The mixture is now ready for use. Load a spray gun and take with teams to field. It only takes a few minutes to spray the work animals before going out in midforenoon and midafternoon and is not only a valuable protection but enhances their comfort while at work.

4-H Club Girls Will Hold Picnic at Lake

Pleasant Corners 4-H club girls are planning a wiener and marshmallow roast for next Wednesday, July 6, at the Leo Schreier cottage on Lake Winnebago. Mrs. Schreier, her daughter, Lois, and Norma and Nathalie Trauba, are spending a week at the cottage now and will remain there over the Fourth of July weekend. Miss Hilch Wunnsch, Appleton, spent last weekend and the first half of this week at the cottage.

A regular meeting of Wide Awake Club 4-H club is scheduled for Wednesday evening, July 6, at the home of Martin Sommers, 112 E. Appleton.

Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Green, 112 E. Appleton, celebrated her 21st birthday anniversary with a party Wednesday night at her home. About 15 guests were present.

Nurse Explains Keeping Of Health Record Books

Miss Marie Mori, county nurse, is present at a meeting of the Pleasant Corners 4-H club Thursday night at the home of Miss Lucy Hilch. She explained how to keep a health record in the pocket book. She also weighed and measured the members of the club. A new member, Pat Weyens, was introduced, and the group planned for a picnic and card party at the home of Mrs. J. B. 13 at Appleton. It was decided that the picnic will be held July 13 at the home of Harold Spreng, Appleton.

Naming of Farms Is Becoming Tradition In Waupaca County

Royalton—The naming of farms is getting to be the style of the day in Waupaca county.

To date, 170 farmers have filed the names of their places with the register of deeds office. C. C. Boyce of the town of Royalton was the first in the county to take advantage of the law passed in 1915 which provided that a farmer could have the name of his farm recorded at the register of deeds office. Boyce named his the Elm Lawn Stock and Dairy Farm.

The practice has the approval of live stock breeders' associations, because it helps in the naming of registered animals and prevents duplication of farm names on live stock papers.

Not only in the registering of live stock but in the branding of farm produce is a farm name a convenience.

So familiar have some farm names become in Waupaca county that mail addressed with those names and not with the farmers' unfailingly reach the right individuals.

Emil Tellock Is Building House

Air Conditioned Home Will be Ready for Occupancy in August

A new farm home of modern design is being built by Emil Tellock, route 1, Dale. The house will be 28 by 34 feet in size.

The new air conditioned home will have four rooms and a lavatory downstairs and three bedrooms and a bath on the second floor. Lumber is being used from Tellock's former home in the construction of the new one, which will be ready for occupancy early in August. Frank Emmons of Dale is in charge of the building. Tellock is harvesting 25 acres of hay at the present time.

Lorenz Morack, route 2, Hortonville, is shingling his farm home and Grover Ness, route 2, New London, is finishing an addition to his barn. Frank Finger, route 2, New London, has charge of the work on the Ness farm.

Albert Radickel, route 2, Hortonville, is cutting and harvesting about 15 acres of hay. He has also finished picking about 250 quarts of strawberries on his place and is looking forward for a good crop of raspberries on a quarter-acre plot he planted a year ago. Mrs. Radickel is raising about 200 pullets this year.

Kuehner Will Inspect Fruit Crop in County

Conrad L. Kuehner, fruit specialist at the college of agriculture of University of Wisconsin, will make a tour of the county with R. C. Swanson, county agent, next week, he said in a letter received yesterday at Swanson's office.

The two men will inspect fruit patches and orchards in the county.

Milk Production In State During June Shows Rise

Five Per Cent Higher Than During Corresponding Period in 1937

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Milk production on Wisconsin dairy farms in June was five per cent higher than during a corresponding period last year and highest for that month since 1930, the state estimates office said today in a current bulletin.

Abundant pastures along with a more than two per cent increase in the average number of cows on Wisconsin farms this spring were given as the reason for the high level of production. Production per cow in a Wisconsin herd on June 1 was 23.13 pounds compared with 22.70 pounds a year ago, an increase of two per cent. The seasonal change from May 1 to June was about normal this year, it was said.

More than 94 per cent of the feed of milk cows this June was obtained from pastures on the farms of dairymen. Luxuriant pastures and low prices for milk helped to reduce the grain and concentrates fed to the dairy cattle, it was reported.

Dairy correspondents among the state's farmers during June were feeding 1.30 pounds of feed per milk cow, slightly less than a year ago. The percentage of calves being raised this year is higher than 1937. The figures below will illustrate data on milk production this summer for Wisconsin and the United States.

	June 1, 1936	June 1, 1937	Per cent of 1936 average
(Wisconsin)	330.2 lbs	315.6	103.2
per farm	26.05	25.76	101.1
(United States)	17.99	17.39	105.3

Dale Harrison's In Old New York

will appear daily in the
APPLETON POST-CRESCENT

Beginning today
Who Is Dale Harrison?
That's a fair question and demands a fair answer.

Dale Harrison is a former Michigan choir boy who joined the staff of the Associated Press in 1918 and now is one of America's best known columnists. So well known in fact that 25,000,000 people read his stuff every day — and like it.

If you like snappy writing about interesting subjects you'll follow Dale Harrison's column every day. Harrison's years in New York have given him a broad acquaintance with the life of the city — the teeming, surging topsy turvy laughter and tears of it. He has rambled through everyone of the thousands of small towns that is New York; he is at home alike at a police lineup or backstage at the Metropolitan.

And he can write. Make no mistake about that.

Start today to read his column on the Editorial page, and you'll want to see it every day.

Ticket Sale for Baseball Tourney Will Open Monday

State Semi-Pro Meet Will Be Held at New London July 18-23

New London—A sales drive of season tickets will be launched next week for the first Wisconsin State Semi-Pro baseball tournament to be held in New London July 18 to 23, according to Dr. M. A. Borchardt, general chairman for the American Legion Norris-Spencer post which is sponsoring the event.

The entire city will be canvassed by a crew under direction of Emil Gahrke, ticket chairman. A goal of 1,000 advance sales has been set, the price of $1.50 providing admission to approximately 18 games.

About 250 invitations have been extended already to the teams and players of the state, according to information from R. E. Vrooman, state director. An attempt will be made to secure a large representation from leagues in this area.

The cream of the baseball crop is expected to gather here for the eliminations, each league sending its best representatives. Among the many visitors is expected an influx of well known figures in baseball from far and near. In addition to trophies, attractive purses will be set up for the first five teams.

Chairman assignments on the general committee have been made as follows:

New London Office

Appleton Team to Meet Candy Girls

Bowlby Club Will Attempt To Hand Invaders Their First Defeat

New London—The Bowlby Candy girls will be gunning to spoil the no-defeat record of the Appleton Girls' Softball team when the latter invade the city athletic park here for a starlight game under the lights tonight. The game will be a Fox River Valley Girls' league tilt.

A men's preliminary will precede the girls' game at 7:30 with two Industrial Softball league rivals providing the entertainment. The high school Mystery Boys will meet Local 1107 to give the latter an opportunity to avenge a beating in league play. The main contest will start about 8:30.

The line-up slated for tonight will have three Bear Creek girls on duty. Mildred Schoenick will pitch, Virginia Dempsey will catch and Esther Flanagan will play one of the short stop positions. Mary Dawson will hold down first base, Alice Babcock second, Stella Fenton third, Angeline Runge the other short stop. To start in the field are Alice DeYoung, Loretta Lomrie and Jackie Dernbach.

The standings of the Fox River Valley Girls' Softball league to date:

WHERE PUBLICATION IS WRONG

One Turrou, an investigator for the Department of Justice and recently engaged in running down espionage activities of aliens in this country, resigned at the conclusion of his work and immediately entered into a contract to sell to a newspaper syndicate the red-hot story any such investigator could write from such experiences.

The conduct of this man was such a shocking breach of ethics that it very properly brought from President Roosevelt the condemnation it merited.

Commercializing one's experience while on the national pay-roll is not exactly new. But jeopardizing the criminal prosecutions already instituted by the government in a case involving the national defense is the quintessence of indifference or something a good deal worse.

Although Mr. Roosevelt in his comment assumed there was no legal barrier that could be interposed against the conduct of Turrou the attorney-general swiftly secured a temporary injunction in the federal court against the publication of the articles. Whether under our laws the injunction could upon hearing be made permanent happily has become moot because the newspaper syndicate in order to avoid "a precedent which might handicap the government in guarding itself against other spy activities," has postponed publication.

Here is obviously one of those situations in which the competition for news and the ambition to serve the public must give way in the national interest. Otherwise freedom of the press is converted into a dagger blow in the nation's back.

Perhaps it is impossible to write a rule that may be applied in all cases in order to govern situations similar to the one at hand but it is thought that where patriotism and a full purpose by the press to aid the government in its always heavy work against criminals is brought into play most publishers should feel when they are trespassing upon dangerous ground, a condition that is always likely when critical witnesses want to turn their evidence into gold.

The press must, as it already has in numerous cases, cooperate with law enforcement officers. The capture of Hauptmann is credited to such cooperation, news agencies upon request having suppressed stories of the appearance of ransom money in order to beguile the criminal into a reckless feeling of safety, the very thing that lead him to his doom.

The public, we feel sure, will wholeheartedly support the national administration in foregoing the right to read details until the prosecutor is satisfied their publication will not injure the national interest.

HAGUE HOPS SOUTH
The authorities at New Orleans are employing tactics they learned under Huey Long to purge the city of every vestige of the CIO.

The police superintendent says bluntly that he is going to run all CIO members out of town and emphasizes "all of them."

The CIO organizers claim they have been severely beaten, are still "weak from their beatings" and have generally been treated to a liberal dose of "police brutality."

The public will know how to resolve these different charges. Facing the frank admission that many CIO organizers are Reds, stories of peaceful and innocent men being suddenly set upon by violent policemen will not slip down readily. But the order to run men out of town, like the Jersey City order to stuff their mouths, is unlawful on its face and beyond the jurisdiction of the police there or anywhere in America.

The New Orleans incident, like that in Jersey City, and perhaps a thousand other spots in the country, is traceable directly back to the effect of a $600,000 contribution to the Roosevelt political fortunes. That sum brought Mr. Lewis a big share in writing the Wagner Law, an act which contained, in our judgment, a highly vital and necessary principle that will help secure justice for labor but is devoid of any effort to protect the country from plug-ugliness.

If people feel concerned about our precious Bill of Rights at Jersey City and New Orleans let them remember that the disorders which induced high-handed conduct by the authorities at the places mentioned constitute a voluntary and intentional abandonment by the government of its duty to maintain order in its effort to appease Mr. Lewis in his Bonapartist adventure for power.

The CIO chieftain violently opposed every proposal to include in the Wagner Act provisions highly beneficial to workers and that might have secured peace without the surrender of a single right or principle. Mr. Lewis realized only too well that peace, orderly votings, majority rule, and all that sort of thing, would be his undoing. He wanted tumult. It is the very life-blood of rebellious organizations and big streams of dues.

In the situation mentioned the Administration gave Mr. Lewis his pound of flesh and turned its back upon the country.

ON WISCONSIN!

Everyone who calls Wisconsin home can be proud this week.

Sweeping four tortuous miles down the Hudson river on Monday afternoon, a University of Wisconsin crew proved that we of the farm country can row a shell in company with the strongest crews in the country.

Then for a few muscle-twisting hours on Monday evening, three boys proved to the nation that, while track material in the middle west may not grow as profusely as it does on the west coast, Wisconsin need apologize to no section of the country.

Results at Poughkeepsie showed Wisconsin finishing a "strong fifth." A few seconds and a few feet separated Wisconsin from the inspired Navy crew that finished first with a new record. Wisconsin's time was but two-fifths of a second slower than the record set by the University of Washington in 1937.

Results at Evanston showed that, but for Wisconsin, Western conference teams, the "Big Ten," might well have avoided all competition with west coast schools. Two Wisconsin boys were responsible for three of the four first places captured by midwestern competitors as well as for a tie for second place. The Wisconsin point total was more than half the midwest was able to score. One Wisconsin boy, Charles Fenske—well on his way to becoming one of track's immortals—was responsible for two of the first places, and another, Walter Mehl, ran a record-breaking two miles for a third front position.

The fine showings by the University of Wisconsin crew and track team, particularly by the former, were made in the face of prior weather conditions not encountered by many of the universities which competed on Monday. So far as crews are concerned, Wisconsin is first among Poughkeepsie competitors—particularly those which finished ahead of the Badgers—to take its shell from the water in autumn, and the last to get back on the water in spring. West coast crews row outside the year around. Maryland, home of the United States Naval Academy, is far more balmy than Wisconsin. The Wisconsin crew, moreover, is the only one of its kind among all large universities in the middle west—there being practically no other university rowing tradition between New York state and the Pacific coast.

Wisconsin can indeed be proud of the showing made by Wisconsin athletes this week. Little birds are also whispering that Wisconsin has plenty of reason to be proud of what its state university's football team will accomplish in the fall.

We shall see what we shall see. At least we have a good start.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THE RAINBOW
Suddenly drops of rain
Spattered the window-pane.
The sun was shining high
Across a deep blue sky.
Only one cloud was black
In heaven's azure track;
And from that darkness dropped
The rain; then quickly stopped.
High overhead, God's sign
Shone on this heart of mine.
After the sorrowful
Lone hours, how beautiful
And healing to the sight—
A rainbow's lovely light!

STRENGTHENING THE DYNASTY
The Wisconsin supreme court has just made two remarkable decisions, one justifying Gov. LaFollette in appointing a lieutenant governor and the other legalizing the W.D.A., a private corporation operating on state funds to promote the public ownership of utilities and known locally as the little TVA.

By whatever reasoning the court reached its conclusions the decisions themselves are popularly accepted as evidence that the court is well trained. Justice John D. Wickham, in giving the majority opinion, hints at the influence of the election returns in his reference to the "pressure the complexities of modern life have put on government agencies and the demand that relief be sought by delegating to private groups some of the functions of government."

The little TVA decision was by a court divided 4 to 2. It reversed a recent unanimous decision that W.D.A. was an invalid delegation of executive power to a private corporation. Justice Chester A. Fowler, in his dissenting opinion, clearly recognized the political character of the W.D.A.

"To me it seems clear," he wrote, "that even as interpreted by the majority opinion of the court on rehearing, the act appropriates public money for the advocacy of the principles of a political party."

"It is no function of government to preach against privately owned and operated utilities. It is propaganda as distinguished from dissemination of information. In effect, it advocates the beliefs of part of the people as correct

New York—Miss Dimplechin, take that gum out of your mouth and then take some letters. Ready?

Mr. Ruby Newman, orchestra leader: Dear Ruby:

Enclosed please find my Blue Ribbon of the week, Grade A, for your current recordings of those tunes from "I Married an Angel." It is quite a rarity to hear tunes played approximately as the composer intended, without trumpet and clarinet players running wild all over the place. I like the way you gave your string section a chance to be heard; and the vocals by your Mr. Norton are very kapositic. Hope you have recovered from the tonsilectomy. Yours, etc.

A letter to a certain New York hospital: Dear hospital: What's this I hear about a mysterious lady who prefers living in a room at your hospital to a Park Avenue penthouse? The way I hear it is that she pays $9,000 a year for her room but isn't satisfied at all and that nobody's quite sure why she does it. I also hear that this $9,000 a year is quite a help, enabling you to give greater aid to charity patients than might otherwise be the case. One advantage in living in a hospital is that when she gets sick (Heaven forbid), she saves an ambulance fee; but I doubt if that's why she pays $9,000 a year to stay there. Inquisitively yours, etc.

A letter to the manager of Triboro Palace, The Bronx, New York: Dear Sir: It was my pleasure to drop in at your place the other day, but something I saw there perturbs me. Hanging over your hat check room is this sign: "Hats checked—10 cents—Coats on Hangers—15 cents." It's the "Coats on Hangers" item that worries me. Suppose a patron doesn't want his coat on a hanger? Does he get a discount? Do you throw the coat on the floor? Or what? Let me know immediately before I die of curiosity. Respectfully, etc.

That's all for today, Miss Dimplechin. You may go to lunch now; and bring me back a cheese sandwich—without mustard.

If anybody wants to hire a bright young publicity man who has learned his lesson, I know an office that most likely can put you in touch with him. The fellow worked there until a few days ago when an incident occurred.

There are two stories about why the young man is no longer with the organization. One is that he resigned. Another is that he got the boot. Which got there first, the resignation or the boot, is not clear. There is a suspicion they arrived head-on.

The young man was writing a press release extolling the charm and merit of a certain boy wonder of screen and air. To his public this youngster may be a great artist. To his press agent he is just another account. There's no less majesty in that. It's just business.

When the press agent, writing his item, got to the second paragraph he wrote: "... the well known young star of screen and radio, Blank Blank (I'd love to punch his darling teeth down his darling throat)..." This was just whimsy. Press agents are inclined toward whimsy. Anything for a laugh. Here today and gone tomorrow. Ha, ha, ha.

The press agent figured of course that the stenographer would delete his parenthetical jocosity, would laugh at it and then would strike it out. He failed to take into consideration the great truth which is that stenographers invariably are doing the unexpected.

The stenographer did not strike it out. She let it go through. It was mimeographed and sent out to 350 editors all over America.

Someone saw it after it had been mailed, and the air in the publicity offices was blue with consternation. I can tell you. Frantic telegrams were dispatched telling editors not to print the item, for goodness sake.

No real harm resulted. Aside from an hour or two in which several people worried ten years off their lives, nothing serious happened. The item wasn't printed.

Naturally, the young man who wanted to punch Blank Blank's darling teeth down his darling throat—in a spirit of good clean fun, of course—felt very badly. Nobody wants to have a parenthetical boomerang and kick him in the pants.

So I say that if anybody wants to hire a bright young publicity man who has learned his lesson, this may be just the man I understand and he no longer has any desire whatever to "punch anybody's darling teeth down anybody's darling throat."

and the beliefs of another part of the people as incorrect."

Previous to the present decision the procedure by which Philip LaFollette landed one of his own political intimates in the second office in the state would have been regarded not only as illegal but abhorrent.

LaFollette first created the vacancy by promoting Henry A. Gunderson, the elected official, to a better paying appointive job. Then after a short interval he filled the job by appointing Ekern as lieutenant governor. The possibilities are infinite.

For his authority LaFollette went to a reviser's statute enacted in 1921, a statute at best of doubtful legality and in apparent contradiction to the procedure contemplated by the constitution. It was a purely political appointment aimed to strengthen the LaFollette dynasty, which had given clear signs of coming apart since the last session of the legislature. If LaFollette thinks of retiring from the executive office to stage manage his "National" Progressives, he with the help of the state supreme court has created his own succession. Surely such intrigue was far from the thought of the writers of Wisconsin's constitution or even of the legislature which enacted the statute of 1921.

Wisconsin has had much to be proud of in the history of its supreme court and few decisions that invited either criticism or explanation. Perhaps it is an inherent weakness of an elective judiciary that its ear is too close to popular clamor.

It would be deplorable for Wisconsin, for free government everywhere if a supreme court were to lose its independence and let its decisions be based on current public opinion rather than on the right and on the law—Chicago Tribune.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER
Washington—By a harmonious little departmental agreement, members of Congress are given a 2-hour "beat" on announcement of grants of WPA or PWA money to their home states. The result is that instead of the home paper simply announcing that a PWA grant of $5,432.37 has been made for a sewer in Burrs Crossing, a vote-pulling piece like the following may come out:

"Rep. Jerry Grover Doodle announced today that the PWA had granted $5,432.37 to build a sewer in Burrs Crossing."

But reporters covering the departments are already shaking down the agreement. They don't like to be held off for two hours, even for the benefit of desperate congressmen.

Slums Near Capitol
Senator Schwellenbach of Washington was stopped dead in his tracks in a capitol corridor by a 15-year-old girl he had known since she was a tot. "Why," she asked, "does the government spend so much on senators when there are hundreds of people living in slums within three blocks of the capitol?"

He didn't have much of an answer for her. There are slums within three blocks.

Dreariest place in Washington
Just now is the cavernous capitol building. Except when the tourists troop through, it is so quiet a person can stand on the first floor and hear steps echoing along the tiled corridors of the third floor.

A few members of Congress bob in from time to time, mostly Senators. House members have high-tailed it home. Every one of them has to stand for election. Only a third of the Senators are so trapped each election year.

Steel gales have been drawn across entrances to the Senate and House restaurants. Here and there on the tables a rusted glass or plate remains to collect dust until the 76th congress comes next January.

'Twas A Famous Victory
There is plenty of noise at times. Tourist parties are led through at frequent intervals by guides with loud, haranguing voices. "This is a painting of the battle of Lake Erie in the war of 1812. The man standing in the prow of the rowboat is 28-year-old Commodore Perry, being conveyed from his sinking flagship to another ship that carried him to victory over the British. Painted in eighteen fluffy fuh at a cost of putty-huh thousand eight hundred dollars, it is one of the largest panels in the capitol."

The party moves on to rest for a moment in forlorn quiet in the senate gallery while the guide explains where such and such famous senators sit—when Congress is in session. A clerk strolls across the senate floor, stops to glance at a forgotten sheet on the vice president's desk and flounders out, leaving glass doors swinging squeakily.

Pigeons tottle at each other from their perches on the draped marble females above the main entrance.

Wish to blaze Billy Rose would come down from New York and fling a circus of the dizzy old burn. It needs something to keep it alive between congresses.

It's Odd But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor
Washington—Hydrogen may explain most of the heat and brightness of the sun and stars.

The role of hydrogen, lightest weight of all the chemical elements, is calculated in the Physical Review by G. Gamow, of George Washington university.

The source of the sun's heat has long been a mystery. Until a few years ago it was thought that the sun and all stars must be burning up radiating their mass into space was the scientific description. But it was found that on this theory sun and stars apparently would have been "dead" long ago.

Dr. Gamow calculates what can happen in the central part of a star, where the temperature runs to millions of degrees.

At the temperatures assigned to the interiors of stars he says hydrogen will be converted into heavier chemical elements. This, furthermore, is the only change of the sort that can take place. The other chemical elements will not be changed.

Conversion of hydrogen into heavier elements will liberate vast quantities of heat and light. So Dr. Gamow figures this conversion of hydrogen answers the old mystery.

Your Birthday

"CANCER"
If July 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 A. M. to 1:30 P. M.; from 3:30 P. M. to 5:30 P. M.; and from 8:30 to 10:30 P. M. The danger periods are from 6:30 to 11:30 A. M. from 6:30 to 8:30 P. M. and from 10:30 P. M. until midnight.

Real merit, like precious minerals, must frequently be sought before it is discovered. On this day, however, whom you would never regard as having merit may reveal it to you in a surprising manner. Business propositions and social suggestions should be carefully considered before being rejected. Important news may come to you through devious channels, and consequently is likely to be distorted. It will be advisable to reserve your opinion until you have had time to analyze the substance of any circulated story. Through prejudice and a lack of tolerance, is apt to subject some persons to a much unfavorable criticism; so "judge not lest ye be judged." Whatever personal attentions you see fit to bestow upon friends will be appreciated. This ought to be an exceptionally good day for you to indulge in social activities. Married and engaged couples, and those who feel they will be fortunate in their matrimonial choice may have some important task or duty to perform; shirking it will be responsible for some of the day's most unpleasant moments.

If a woman and July 2 is your birthday, you may imagine that too often, especially about what your friends think and say. Curb any tendency you might have to be unduly sensitive. An optimistic outlook will free you from financial worries. As an agent, manager of some high, specialized line of business, or in educational, theatrical or literary work you may win the public's favor and accumulate a substantial financial reserve. You may find your greatest happiness in matrimony.

MAYBE JUDGE IS WRONG
County Judge writes, and even if he were Justice of the Peace, I listen:

"All the grown members of our family read your articles and I am sure we have benefited by them. Old ideas die hard, though, and I find it hard to accept your oft-repeated statements that nothing can get through the unbroken skin. One summer my brother and I, attending a little country school, caught the itch. An old neighbor woman told our mother how to mix the lard and sulphur, and instructed her to give us a heaping teaspoonful of sulphur internally. 'To drive the itch out to the surface.'"

When we balked, the old woman said we could prove the sulphur comes out through the skin by shaking our socks over a hot stove 24 hours after taking the dose.

We tried it out, and the pinpoints of burning sulphur proved the old lady's theory.

Maybe you're right, I don't know.

Anyway the Judge's experiment was as well controlled and as scientific as the experiments of one David I. Macht, M.D., who reported in the Medical News, April 1938, that all sorts of medicines and poisons are absorbed thru the skin if one applies them with just the proper turn of the wrist and so on. My skin is still available for a showdown on this question. But then, probably my hide is tougher than a guinea pig's.

The Judge has me wrong, however. I do not deny that sulphur is excreted thru the skin when large amounts of sulphur or sulphides are taken internally. Many substances are excreted, in part, in the sweat—for instance iodine, lead, mercury. Practically the amount of any drug or chemical or poison excreted in the sweat, is insignificant in any circumstance, compared with the amount excreted via the intestines, kidneys and lungs. What I do deny is that any one has produced any scientific evidence to indicate that any drug, food, chemical, poison or other substance is absorbed thru unbroken skin, no matter how it may be applied.

The sulphur and lard treatment is the best treatment for scabies, the old-fashioned itch, the seven year itch, or whatever fancy local name you please to call it. The success of the treatment depends on (1) the perfection of the ointment—the powdered sulphur, say two ounces of it, must be so thoroughly rubbed with the pound of lard that no particle of sulphur can be seen or felt with the fingers; (2) the patient must be scrubbed with hot soap and water to within an inch of his life—scrubbed with a brush to the limit of endurance, then thoroughly dried; and (3) the ointment well rubbed in and an excess left on the skin wherever the slightest indication of termination. This youngster may attain wealth and power.

If a man and July 2 is your natal day, your insistence on having your own way in important and important things may be one of your greatest faults. To succeed you must be just as ready to accept advice as you are to give it. Above all things be charitable regarding the shortcomings of your relatives and friends. You might be unusually fortunate as a botanist, agriculturalist, engineer, lawyer, actor, doctor, sales representative or manufacturer.

of the itch is evident—left on all night. Next morning (4) a bath, and a complete change of clothes and bedclothes and nightgown and everything, for otherwise reinfection is almost certain to occur.

The old woman's notion that the sulphur taken internally would drive the itch out to the surface was an old woman's notion. The itch never goes below the surface—the itch mites find the pickings entirely satisfactory on the surface.

Predicts Loss in Farm Income Won't Exceed 10 Per Cent

Babson Gets Good Reports As He Crosses Midwestern Farm States

BY ROGER BABSON
Denver—Good reports constantly reached me this week as I crossed the farm belt. This may be a bad year for the manufacturer, but the farmer is not discouraged. Out through the great farm states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, and Kansas, the depression is still only a "recession." Prices, of course, are below a year ago, but above recent lows. My estimate is that total farm income will not be more than 10 percent less than 1937, while industrial income may be down 25-40 per cent.

When I first started collecting business statistics 35 years ago, the most important figures were crop forecasts. All other barometers, such as carloadings, retail trade, steel operations, and new financing, were secondary. If crops were good business was sure to be good. In those days, if farmers had a good crop, they had money to spend. This in turn made business good. Carloadings, retail trade, and other barometers automatically went up.

Old Signs Ignored
However, many people believe that all that has changed now. Since the depression, there has been a new method of figuring the effect of crops. Many are pessimistic when prospects favor a bumper harvest, while a crop failure is regarded as an optimistic sign. The New Deal "scarcity theory" has unconsciously gone over with some of the younger generation. They recall 1931 and 1932 as good farm years, but the bottom dropped out of business. They also remember that the crop failures of 1934 and 1936 were followed by good fall business in both years. In addition, they have seen farm prices crumble this spring as overproduction of big crops were announced. Hence, they look upon good harvests as a sign of poor business.

These cases, however, are all coincidences. In 1934 and 1936, we had huge carry-overs from previous seasons. These surpluses had been keeping prices low. They had to be eliminated. Hence, when we had crop failures in 1934 and 1936, the surpluses not only increased in value but were used up and paved the way for better prices in the following seasons. In the 1931 and 1932 cases, we were in a downward business spiral that had to run its course. At that time, we were suffering from over-production in industry as well as agriculture. The big crops were only a drag on the market. Furthermore, our surpluses were back in those gloomy days were not exportable because of foreign trade conditions.

Boost Activity
Our carry-overs from last season while larger than average, are not excessive. Prices are down to world levels and are not particularly profitable. However, big crops mean more workers to handle them. They mean wear and tear on farm machinery and trucks. They mean the filling of more space in grain elevators. They mean more freight vators. They mean more livestock cars to haul grain and more commission for grain merchants. They mean more activity in farm marketing centers. In short, they mean better business to all the by-product and service business.

Lower prices this year may bring smaller total income for farmers in spite of the bigger harvests. But there will still be a lot of money crossing rural retail counters. Furthermore, lower farm prices mean lower food bills for hard-pressed city families. This releases more of the urban dwellers' income for other purchases. On the other hand, if we were faced with a crop failure, the entire picture would be changed. Fewer farmers would be spending money, more people would be on farm relief, more elevator companies and granger railroads would go into bankruptcy, food prices would be disastrous. It would knock all chances for a business pick-up this fall galley-west.

All Sections
Farm income should be evenly spread throughout the country this year. During each of the last seven years some part of North America has been suffering from drought. The Prairie Provinces of Canada, for instance, will have their first good crop this season since 1931. My observation is that every section should share in the good 1938 crop conditions. The previous stricken Dakotas, Eastern Montana, Western Iowa, Nebraska, and the Oklahoma-Texas-Colorado Dust Bowl are all in good shape. So, while total farm buying power will be somewhat less than last year, its even distribution will be a stimulus to better business everywhere this fall.

The only fly in the ointment is the decline in the buying power of the farmer's products as compared with the things he must buy. Industrial wage scales, freight rates, taxes, and overhead prevent the price of manufactured articles following the Law of Supply and Demand as sensitively as do raw farm products. For instance, farm prices are off 26 per cent from a year ago, but products the farmer must buy are down only 7 per cent.

Farmers Best Customers
This, however, is a long-term problem. For the months right ahead, good farm conditions will help business. The "old-fashioned" theory that good crops and low money rates mean better business still holds. Investors take note that mail-order companies, farm-tool makers and granger railroads will be the biggest commercial beneficiaries. Sales managers must not be fooled by the present decline in rural business from a year ago. Later this Summer and early this Fall, farm areas will be the best markets for manufactured goods. My forecast is that the farmer will lead the nation out of the recession of 1938!

HOLLYWOOD LIGHTS CAMERA ACTION! HAPPENINGS

BY ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—Not too many years ago you heard producers whining because the fans stayed away from POOR pictures. Today's cheering thought is that they take it for granted the fans will stay away from that kind!

One producer, viewing world conditions, sets $650,000 as top production cost on any feature expecting to show a profit. With some exceptions, of course, like "Snow White" and "Robin Hood." Jeffrey Lynn, the Worcester, Mass. boy, who is making good in "Sister Act," has seen his rushes, is afraid he's in for some of the ribbing that pursued Robert Taylor so long. "I've been photographed very, very pretty in two or three scenes," he confides, "but if it comes—I can take it!"

Together Again
Life seems normal again on the RKO lot. . . . Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire are working together again, with Mark Sandrich directing. . . . It's Old Home Week. . . . "Carefree" has a new twist in plot, which ought to make the reunion happier.

Inspirational re-christening of the week: Dorothy Conningore (the girl admired by Chaplin at Carmel) is re-titled Kay Winters, just as if

Could Have Set Player Four Tricks

BY ELY CULBERTSON
"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Some interesting hands turned up in a team-of-four championship in Pittsburgh last weekend. The enclosed is one of them. I make no claim to being a ranking player, and am not trying to appear critical, but the fact remains that we had a wonderful chance with this hand and missed it."

Pass Pass

"The bidding seems a bit sloppy throughout. I was West, and have no great esteem for my own diamond overcall. North's no trump was, I suppose, all right considering his original pass, but his distribution was pretty unbalanced and, in my opinion, a simple club raise was preferable. Am I right? East's two heart bid was nothing to write home about, and neither was South's two no trump, considering that his partner had passed originally. I suppose that I might have doubled the final three no trump contract, but considering my own weak diamond call, this seemed unduly optimistic to me."

"East, my fair-haired partner, opened the diamond five. I played the king, and declarer permitted me to hold the trick. I went into a long huddle with myself. My partner's hand was pretty nearly an open book. He should have five hearts headed by either J-9 or J-10; he still must have the guarded queen of diamonds, both from the opening lead and the fact that declarer had permitted my king to hold. And if West did not hold either the ace or king of spades his bid was truly a honey. I myself had clubs stopped. So I made my decision."

"Placing East with two entries (the diamond queen and a single trick) and five hearts to go as good as J-9, I returned the heart eight. North played low and East, in amazement, put a dent in the table top with his device. Dummy's queen won, and the queen of spades was led. East took his king and now, breathing fire, whacked down the diamond queen so hard that the table groaned. So did I. It was East's last entry for those O so lovely hearts and the clubs not yet set up. Well, we won two diamonds, the club king, the spade king, and I didn't lose my ace of hearts. The contract was set one trick."

"My partner became very meek during the fatherly talk I gave him after the hand, but this meekness vanished when he learned that we had won the board. After all, our partners having stopped at two no trump and having been presented with that contract."

This hand is a striking example of what distrust in one's partner does to the defense. Obviously East jumped to the conclusion, on West's return of the heart up to dummy's K-Q, that his partner didn't know what he was doing and hastened to "straighten him out" by banging down the diamond queen, just as though West didn't know where that card was. If East had followed orders and, upon winning with the spade king, had returned a heart while West still had his club king, the contract would have been defeated four tricks instead of one."

Old Gardener Says:

The squash borer is without question the most destructive pest of squashes and pumpkins. Injury from this insect is caused by the large, fat grubs that tunnel their way into the stems of the plants until the leaves wither from lack of nourishment. But in this case, as in dealing with many other pests, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. The moth is particularly active and is laying its eggs during July, and the grower should be prepared to destroy the eggs and freshly hatched larvae by the use of a heavy application of spray under high pressure. Either lead arsenate or a nicotine spray is recommended. The former is cheaper, the latter is somewhat more effective in that it kills both the eggs and the larvae with which it comes in contact.

Superfluous Hair Most Noticeable in Summer

Olympe Brandna personifies summer daintiness and feminine beauty.

BY ELSIE PIERCE
It's a feminine conceit, to be sure, but a lovely one. And how can you overlook its importance, when arms and arm pits are so much in evidence in every beach scene all summer. Superfluous hair is anything but synonymous with summer loveliness. It's the very bane of the American woman's existence. I refer particularly to the American woman, because women of the continent do not regard it as a mark of meanness on the part of an unkind fate.

For treating superfluous hair on the face I recommend bleaching first. Ammonia and peroxide are the favorite combine as a bleaching agent. There are any number of others among them, cucumber juices and other vegetable juices which are quite potent. Lemon juice is an old standby. If the hair remains quite conspicuous in spite of bleaching, and you wish to remove it, electrolysis is recommended.

For superfluous hair on legs, arms and underarms there are innumerable removers... practically all of them temporary. There are cream and paste depilatories and wax epilators. The latter are a little more bothersome to use, at least until one develops the "knack" but the extra effort and time is well spent for several reasons. In the first place, the hair does not come back as quickly or as thickly when the wax is used as it does when cream or paste depilatories are employed. The depilatories merely cut the hair leaving a slight trace of stubble; the wax pulls the hair out by the roots or very near the roots and leaves the skin soft, silky and without sign of stubble. When you see a perfectly smooth, hairless underarm the chances are the wax has been used.

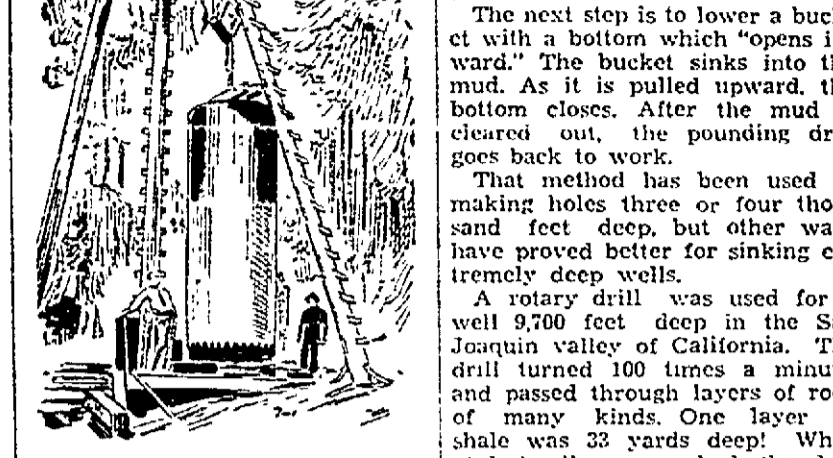

Follow Directions
One word of caution: do be absolutely sure to follow directions. And don't attempt to use a depilator immediately after a depilatory. The two have a very angry effect on each other. My bulletin on "Super-

Boring Deep Wells

In times gone by, it was the general custom to "dig" a well. Men cut into the earth with shovels, spades, picks and so on, and there was "digging" whenever a well was sunk.

At present the only wells which are "dug" are shallow ones. Deep wells, which supply safe water or reach down to supplies of oil, are "drilled" or "bored." It would be out of the question to employ hand tools to go down hundreds, even thousands, of feet.

The clever brain of man has produced dozens of kinds of drills and boring tools. Some mine shafts are sunk with hollow cylinders several feet in diameter. The lower end of the cylinder is armed with teeth. As the cylinder turns, it cuts deeper and deeper, often through solid rock.

Black diamonds from Brazil are placed on the teeth of some hollow drills. Since diamonds are harder than any stone - far harder than granite - they can cut through without being worn away.

An interesting way of drilling oil wells has been widely used. A framework tower perhaps 60 or 70 feet high is placed over the spot where the boring is to be done. Then, with the help of cables and pulleys a "pounding drill" is set to work. Falling with great force, it crushes the rock into powder.

After the pounding drill has crushed a certain amount of rock, water is sent down into the cutting. The water mixes with the rock dust and the result is a kind of mud.

The next step is to lower a bucket with a bottom which "opens inward." The bucket sinks into the mud. As it is pulled upward, the bottom closes. After the mud is cleared out, the pounding drill goes back to work.

This method has been used in making holes three or four thousand feet deep, but other ways have proved better for sinking extremely deep wells.

A rotary drill was used for a well 9,700 feet deep in the San Joaquin valley of California. The drill turned 100 times a minute, and passed through layers of rock of many kinds. One layer of shale was 33 yards deep! When at last, oil was reached, the drill was weighted down by 109 tons of steel pipe.

Another deep California oil well was finished last year after being drilled to a depth of a little more than two miles. It had taken 338 days to drill that deep hole.

The farther down the drills go, the hotter the rock. In one well a Fahrenheit thermometer gave a reading of 205 degrees (almost the boiling point) at a depth of 7,000 feet.

It is believed that at some later time oil may be found at a depth as great as four miles.

Mothers Need Vacations Away From Their Families

BY DOROTHY DIX

The one person who most needs a vacation and seldom gets one is Mother. Every one recognizes that the Tired Business Man needs a break in his routine and to have rest and recreation now and then if he is to continue hitting on all sixteen cylinders, and that the children need change of air and new interests to keep them strong and healthy.

a town house that has at least modern conveniences in it and dumping her down into a camp or a farm where there isn't even running water or electric lights, and where the children add stone bruises, sunburn and mosquito bites to their repertoire of ailments.

Even when Mother does get a so-called vacation it takes a queer and ironic form that makes it more of a penance than a pleasure. For generally it consists in taking her out of the nearest grocery and delicatessen, and in slaving over a hot stove cooking for the horde of visitors who descend upon every one who has a place in the country and who can be held up for food and drink for man beast.

It is no wonder that Mother comes home from her vacation a physical wreck and that it takes her half the winter to recover from it and get back to normal. Nor is it strange that Mother doesn't insist on her right to a vacation. She has tried it once and that was enough. But, for all of that, Mother does need a vacation, not only for her own good, but also for the good of her husband and children. Nothing would do more to promote domestic felicity than for every wife and mother to be separated from their husband and children and home for at least two weeks every year and given a real, genuine, bonafide vacation that would be a good time instead of a pain in the neck.

For one thing, it would stop the eternal family spats that are at the bottom of half of the divorces. The reason Mother is cross, irritable and ready to fight at the drop of a hat is because she is overworked, tired and bored with the monotony of doing the same tasks over, day after day. She is fed up with looking at Papa and hearing his groans about the depression. She could scream every time she hears the never-ending cry of M-o-t-h-e-r. So she takes out her nerves and her general disgruntlement with life in snapping at her husband, slapping the children and sending them supperless to bed.

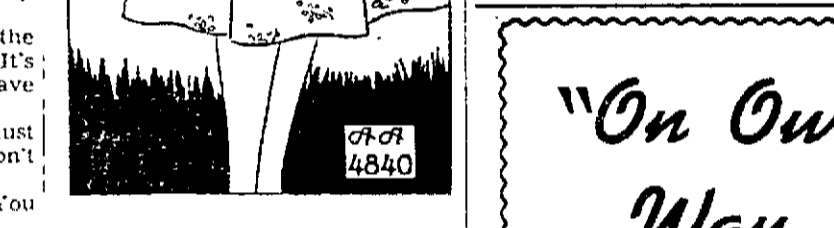

But give Mother a vacation away from her family, with no children clinging to her skirts, with no baby keeping her awake at night, with no little boys to be saved from committing suicide half a dozen times a day. Let her go where she wants to. Do what she pleases. Have breakfast in bed. Be waited on instead of waiting on others. And she will come back home a made-over woman, thinking her husband the most desirable place on earth, seeing her husband as the Prince Charming she married, and her children as angels instead of brats. And what a break that is for the family.

Moreover, nothing helps a woman consider her personal appearance and her housekeeping like a vacation does. Maybe she had got so she just took her husband and her home for granted and didn't think it worth while to make any effort to make herself attractive, or keep a good table. Maybe she had let herself slump and get fat and kept her family on a roast beef-and-potatoes diet because it was too much trouble to think up something different.

But let her get out and see other women who have kept their figures. Let her eat new dishes and see attractive ways of serving food. And she will come home filled with enthusiasm, fresh ideas and determined to be a Lady Love instead of just Ma, and a chef instead of a poor cook.

DRESSY FROCK

BY ANNE ADAMS
Here's a smart recipe for looking shimmer and prettier - as you go about doing your "home-work," or step into the car to give the children a morning drive! Take Anne Adams' new Pattern 4840 and some nice crisp percale, dimity or linen - and run yourself up a couple of frocks at small cost. Even if you use this pattern a little later on for an early Fall dress, you'll find that the yardage in a dark crepe gives your purse only a trifling setback.

How pleased you'll be with the slenderizing appeal of the long center panel with its new scalloped closing! How you'll relish the neat yoke and collar - the choice of sleeves!

Pattern 4840 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards lace edging.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (cents preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: size, name, address and style number.

Do you want to be a style leader this summer? Then write at once for the Anne Adams Summer Pattern Book. their way of administering the affairs of home.

What is at the root of the trouble is the deception the young people practice. They deny smoking and drinking. Then something leaks out and father and mother are worried. They are no longer certain of the behavior of their son or daughter, and uncertainty makes them afraid. If they could be certain about the principles that guided the behavior of the children they would not worry so much and there would be less friction.

Let the young people tell the truth. Let the old folks adjust themselves as well as they can to the ways of their children. But at all times, let the sons and daughters of the family remember the ways of their fathers and treat them with gentleness and courtesy. Parents understand consideration when they meet it, and that is about all they ever ask of their children. Little enough, isn't it?

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamp, addressed envelope for reply.

Children Should Respect Ways, Ideas of Parents

BY ANGELO PATRI

Emily is in her senior year in college. Her mother and father had no chance for a college education, but they stretched a good many points to send their daughter to the college she selected. Soon she will be graduated. How her father and mother have looked forward to this day, to the time of her maturity, to her success in life, she can never know. Here she is, telling her mother that she wants to have a party for her college chums, but she must have it at the Inn.

"We will do our best to let you have the party, dear, but why at the Inn? We could do it at home very nicely, and with half the cost. It's going to cost a great deal to have it at the Inn, you know. And we have had to be very careful this year."

"There's no use having it if I have to have it at home. If you must know, we have to have cocktails and wine, and you and father won't have drinks served in the house."

"Cocktails? And wine? For children? Like you? Impossible. You don't mean that you drink?"

"There you are. Just impossible. Everybody drinks that way. If I can't treat my friends properly I won't have them at all."

Leaving the ethics of drinking and not drinking out of the question, what about the courtesy that a daughter of such parents owes them? What is one to think of a young woman who accepts all the love and devotion and sacrifice of her parents for more than twenty years and then, in the end, affronts them, shocks them, and turns her back upon all they hold dear? Wouldn't common courtesy, common decency, forbid such behavior?

Sons and daughters of families who oppose smoking and drinking ought, at least, to have a decent regard for the feelings of their parents as far as behavior in the home is concerned. If they must smoke and drink, let their people know it, as courteously as possible, but refrain from trying to force their ideas upon the family. Father and mother are entitled to their way of living, to

"Can not be present at dinner July 10." The reason why they ask for a refusal as well as an acceptance is probably that they wish to send invitations to a few additional people for whom there will be no room if all those on the original list invite. Therefore, as soon as you send in your regret they will be able to - and out an invitation to fill your vacancy. At least, this is the only reason I can think of for asking for notes of regret.

Parade Will Mark Opening of 3-Day Celebration Here

Seven Bands, 30 Floats to Appear in Procession Tomorrow

Seven bands and about 30 floats will appear in the parade tomorrow afternoon which will mark the opening of the 3-day Half The Life of the Nation Civic celebration at Erb park tomorrow evening, Sunday and Monday afternoons and evenings.

The parade will form in the vicinity of Badger avenue and College avenue and start east on College avenue at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon, disbanding near the Lawrence college campus.

Five silver loving cups will be awarded among entrants in the parade, with two cups going in each of the two divisions, industrial and commercial.

Matt Marshall, director of the SOTAL Drum and Bugle corps, said today that members of the unit will meet at the American Legion clubhouse at 12:30 tomorrow afternoon.

It was announced earlier that the youths were to convene at the clubhouse at 1 o'clock.

all others and one of the best marching units. The cups are on display at the Marx jewelry store.

Mike Steinhauer, first ward alderman, will be marshal of the day. Police Chief George Prim and four officers mounted on horses will head the parade.

Riding in a police car will be Mayor John Goodland, Jr., and the two co-chairmen for the celebration, Harold Finger and H. L. Davis, Jr.

Bands

The bands which will appear in the parade are as follows: Appleton high school band, E. C. Moore, leader; 4-H club band of Sherwood, J. C. Hallett, leader; Winneconne high school band, C. L. Wold, leader; Oshkosh high school band, F. H. Jebe, leader; Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, Matt Marshall, leader; Dale and Medina combined band and orchestra; Seymour High school band, E. T. Hawkins, leader.

The touching off of a bomb will at once set the parade in motion and signalize the beginning of the 3-day celebration.

The American Legion color guard and marchers, Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, Veterans of Foreign Wars color guard and marchers, Junior Chamber of Commerce and auxiliary, boy scouts color guard and troops, and a host of floats representing various business places in Appleton and vicinity will appear in the parade.

Mayor Proclaims Days of Official Civic Celebration

Mayor Goodland today issued a proclamation naming July 2, 3 and 4 the official days of the celebration of Appleton's eighty-first birthday and urging citizens to display flags during the three days. Appleton this year is just half as old as the nation, a coincidence that will never occur again.

Following is the proclamation: "Whereas, the city of Appleton this year is 71 years old and is exactly half the age of the United States; and

"Whereas, a civic celebration commemorating the event will be staged July 2, 3 and 4 at Erb park by the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce;

"I, mayor of the city of Appleton, therefore, deem it proper to officially proclaim Appleton's 'half the life of a nation' civic celebration as a civic affair;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that July 2, 3 and 4 be proclaimed the official days of this celebration and I respectfully urge every citizen to display the American flag during these three days."

Signed,
Mayor John Goodland, Jr.

Peter Nussbaum Succumbs at Home

Stephensville Man Was Lifelong Resident of This Vicinity

Peter Nussbaum, 69, Stephensville, died at his home at 6:15 last evening after a lingering illness. Mr. Nussbaum, a retired farmer, was born in the town of Ellington June 22, 1869, and lived there until two years ago. He was a member of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin.

Surviving are the widow; four sons, John Wilbur, town of Ellington; Clarence, town of Bovina; Edward, Appleton; four daughters, Mrs. George Lippert, Miss Julia Nussbaum, Miss C. Nussbaum, town of Greenville; Mrs. Tony Diermeier, town of Ellington; two brothers, John, Jacob, town of Ellington; seven sisters, Mrs. Wenzel Pleier, Mrs. Michael Griesbach, Mrs. Elizabeth Oim, Mrs. Chris Dressing Appleton; Mrs. Henry Roeth, town of Grand Chute; Mrs. Lena Dressing, town of Center; Sister M. Lea, St. Francis convent, Milwaukee; and 16 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 8:30 Saturday morning at the residence and at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick church at Stephensville with the Rev. Raymond Schauer in charge. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. The body will be at the residence from this afternoon until time of funeral services and prayer services will be conducted at 8 o'clock this evening.

Count Appears in Court in London

count asked him to refrain from carrying a gun and not to see his wife.

"I certainly give this undertaking," he said.

The count was confronted also by reports that the countess was planning to take Lance on a long vacation in Italy. She was understood to have made reservations at a Venice hotel for the end of this month.

It was expected an application for judicial separation, possibly to be followed by divorce, would be made in a Danish court.

If that is the plan, informed sources said, the countess' purpose in arranging court custody of her son may have been to remove any possibility of the father gaining charge of the child.

Both parents are Danish, the countess having surrendered her American nationality, but London-born Lance is considered British. Being made a ward in chancery did not affect his nationality.

Steffes Favored to Head County Ticket

Milwaukee—(P)—District Attorney Herbert J. Steffes, Progressive, was the unanimous choice of 600 members of the Farmer-Labor-Progressive Federation to head the federation county ticket as endorsed last night.

The group endorsed Paul Gauer, Socialist, for congress in the Fourth district, and former Sheriff Al Benson, Socialist, in the Fifth district. Raymond J. Cannon, Democrat, is present congressman from the Fourth district and Thomas O'Malley, Democrat, from the Fifth district.

SMALLEST GIRL PASSES SWIM TEST AT YMCA TANK

Struggling a bit in the water but making progress all the same is Irene Bushman, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bushman, 1107 W. Fifth street. She was the smallest girl to receive a swimming certificate from J. R. Riedl, managing editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent, sponsor of the swimming school, last night at the Y.M.C.A. pool. Miss Bushman is 50 inches tall and tips the scales at 65 pounds. She was one of 104 girls who took swimming tests last night after three weeks of instruction. Standing ready with the rescue pole in case the swimmer gets tired is Miss Wilhelmine Charlotte Harms, one of the instructors. Other girls in the picture are waiting for their turn in the tank. The upper picture shows part of the crowd of 250 persons who watched the tests. (Post-Crescent Photos)

104 Girls Receive Swim Certificates in Annual Post-Crescent Campaign

With hearts beating fast because they passed their swimming tests as well as from their efforts in the Y. M. C. A. pool, 104 girls last night received junior beginners' swimming certificates from J. R. Riedl, managing editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent, sponsor of the 3-week swim school.

Tonight at 7:30 boys who have taken lessons for the last three weeks will take their final tests. And if they pass, will receive certificates. All boys who attended the school and believe they can swim 60 feet, whether or not they passed a preliminary test, may take a final test tonight, according to Ray Risch, physical director at the Y.

This year's school was the largest and most successful ever held here and was attended by youngsters from all over the Post-Crescent circulation area including Clintonville, Seymour, Kimberly and others. Registration totaled 978 children, 519 boys and 459 girls.

Scores Socialized Medicine in Talk Before Rotarians

Dr. E. A. Rector, President Elect of State Society, Defends Present System

Neenah—Dr. E. A. Rector, Appleton, president-elect of the Wisconsin Medical society, defended the society's opposition to legislation for socialized medicine in Wisconsin at a talk at the noon meeting of the Neenah Rotary club Thursday at the Valley Inn as he told the Rotarians that they have to choose between being treated by federal agents whose positions are the result of politics or by their family physicians.

Outlining some of the great work done by the society since its organization 87 years ago, the doctor refuted the charges that "organized medicine is selfish and out of step with the present day."

The doctor contended that the socialized medicine movement is being agitated by non-residents of the state or by those who recently have adopted Wisconsin as their state.

"These outsiders contend it is time for a change and that it must be 'expedient,'" the doctor stated, and added that these broad-minded outsiders feel that Wisconsin is an ideal proving ground which would make its citizens nothing more than rabbits."

Restrictions Continuing to score the socialized medicine movement, the Appleton doctor said that these outsiders who are trying to supervise the betterment of medical methods in our state admit there would be restrictions under the proposed method, and he asked the Rotarians, "How would you like to be told when you could have a doctor and what he could do for you?"

Realizing the need for the protection of the public's health from unscrupulous men, doctors in 1841 organized the medical society for the advancement of the study of disease and its treatment and as guardians of the health of Wisconsin people.

The society is the oldest, legally constituted organization of trade, craft or profession which has functioned continuously.

Work of Society The society was the first organization to institute legislation for institutions for the insane and feeble-minded, and in 1848 it sought to have passed a law similar to the pure foods act and in 1890, it sought to have such a bill passed.

In 1850, the society put through legislation for registering births, deaths and marriages. It legislated for a state medical school and licensing of doctors. The work of the society resulted in the formation of a state board of health and they put through the laws regulating narcotics, quarantine of contagious diseases and vaccination of school children during epidemics.

Reciting figures showing the decrease in the number of deaths caused by diphtheria, the doctor said that the average span of life for men in Wisconsin was 40 years and women 37 years, while today, the expectancy of the life of a new born boy is 61 years and a girl is 64 and six-tenths years.

The doctor listed the society's fight against tuberculosis, cancer, syphilis and other diseases and outlined the society's hospital service and its study of the free payment plan insurance and the distribution of medical care.

Dr. Rector concluded with, "the society carries on an unbiased study of the better methods of protecting health, always adopting in the future as in the past what we know it will cure and not kill."

Youth Charged With Burglary

Sixteen-Year-Old Menasha Boy to Appear in Juvenile Court

Menasha—A 16-year-old Menasha boy was to appear this afternoon in juvenile court at Oshkosh and charged with burglary in the nighttime. Menasha police who arrested the boy this morning reported that he admitted breaking and entering the William Chaudoff grocery store, Main street, between 7:30 and 9:30 Tuesday night and taking $9.50 in cash.

Police said that the boy climbed entrance into the store through a window on the second floor. He took the glass out of the window and squeezed through bars placed about seven inches apart across the opening. He unlocked two doors to get out of the store.

Police said that the boy had appeared in juvenile court before he had been released pending good behavior.

Menasha Man Is Fined For Being Disorderly

Menasha—William W. Schenck, 343 Third street, Menasha, was fined $1 and costs when he pleaded guilty to being disorderly in the city of Menasha. He was arrested by police at the Oshkosh fair grounds.

Mapping complete plans for the 1938 drive of the Twin City Visiting Nurse association, which opens early in October, featured the morning meeting Thursday of the finance and publicity committees, a group of whose members are shown at the home of Mrs. D. See Increase of $500,000 in City Assessment Rolls

Construction of Last 3 Years to be Taxed for First Time

Menasha—An increase of approximately $500,000 in the assessed value of the city of Menasha will result this year because of the large number of building projects and improvements undertaken in the last three years which will go on the assessment rolls for the first time this year, according to the city's two assessors, R. M. Heckner and Joseph H. Stommel.

To encourage building the legislature enacted a law several years ago exempting from taxation all new improvements and construction started between May 1, 1935 and May 1, 1937. Other classes of improvements in addition to new homes which were exempted included new heating installations, basements, electrical and plumbing improvements and all types of improvements which did not represent mere replacements. All will now be placed on the assessment roll.

Complete Field Work

The two assessors have completed all of the field work necessary for the preparation of the assessment roll. They have visited, inspected and estimated the value of all business places, homes and pieces of property in the city since work started in April. The two are now doing the book work in preparation of the assessment roll. The assessed value of the city last year was $12,582,884 and with an estimated increase of $500,000, the 1938 valuation should exceed 13 million dollars.

The board of review is scheduled to hold its opening session next Tuesday, the date specified by state law. However, the consideration of the equity of the assessments probably will be deferred until after the assessment roll has been completed.

Change Schedule Of Arts Classes

Revision Necessitated by Large Increase in Enrollment

Menasha—Because of the large increase in the number of boys and girls participating in the arts and crafts classes at Kimberly school manual training room which are being conducted under the city playground program, it has become necessary to change the schedule of classes, Florence K. Oberreich, girls' playground director, reported today.

In order to accommodate the large number of children, Helen Strobel and John Rehl, playground leaders, have been called upon to assist Mrs. Oberreich in the work. There have been 345 students who have participated in the six classes already held.

Boys and girls eight, nine and 10 years of age will attend classes from 2 o'clock to 4 on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, while boys 11 and 12 years of age and girls 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 will attend from 2 o'clock to 4 on Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Demand for Farm Hands Reported by Job Office

Menasha—Harry D. Gates, manager of the Neenah-Menasha office of the Wisconsin state employment service today reported that there is a demand for experienced farm hands. The manager said that there are several vacancies on farms within the vicinity of the Twin Cities and these vacancies should be filled immediately. He requested men who have had farm work experience to call at the office, 510 N. Commercial street. He also stated that going wages will be paid.

Thief Abandons Neenah Machine in Hortonville

Neenah—Police reported today that a car belonging to Donald Christensen, 312 Smith street, which was stolen Wednesday night was found abandoned yesterday on S. Mill street in Hortonville.

Irvin Klein, Hortonville resident, called officers of that village after the car had stood on the street most of Wednesday night and yesterday, Christensen was notified and recovered his machine.

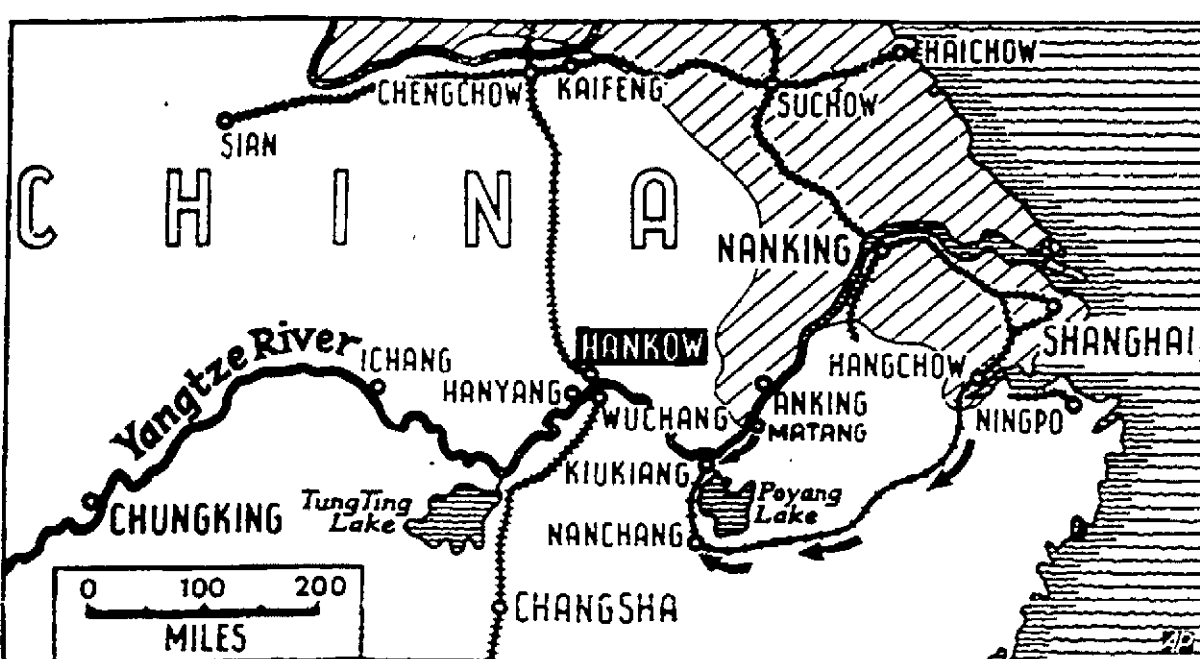

Religious Instruction Class Graduates Sunday

Neenah—Graduation of the religious instruction class will mark the 10:30 Sunday morning worship services in First Evangelical church Sunday according to the Rev. Carl F. Zietlow, pastor. In conjunction with the services, holy communion will be celebrated.

Members of the class include Florian Schultz, Chester Felton, Robert E. St. Marie, Alvin Spicer, Bernice Spicer and James Peterson.

Firemen Answer Three Alarms During Month

Menasha—The fire department answered three calls, two of which were to extinguish fire and one rescue, during June. Fire Chief Paul Theimer reported today. The total damage by fire amounted to $20. The firemen rescued a cat which had climbed to the top of a telephone pole.

JAPANESE WAR MACHINE HEADS SOUTH

Arrows on this Associated Press map indicate the probable direction of a new Japanese drive on Hankow, in the Sino-Japanese war, while the fierce battling continues down the Yangtze. Nanchang, important Chinese air base, is expected to be the goal of the drive along the Nanchang-Hankow railroad. The city has already been bombed repeatedly. Flooded rivers continue to harass the invaders, with Hankow the latest to be menaced.

Twin City People Plan to Vacation at Lake Cottages

Neenah—Summer cottages of Neenah and Menasha residents will be occupied during the Fourth of July as plans are made to leave this weekend with guests or in family groups.

The R. G. Whale family, Naymut street, Menasha, plan to leave Saturday to spend two weeks at the Chain O'Lakes near Waupaca where they have a cottage.

Utility Offers to Sell Its Distributing System

Menominee, Mich. — (P) — A. J. Goedjen, vice president of the Menominee and Marinette Light and Traction company, informed the local city council yesterday the company would sell its electric light and power distribution system, including its rural lines, for $520,000.

The price quoted by the company is "subject to a suitable agreement whereby the city will purchase its power from the company."

The city has a contract with the federal government for financing construction of a proposed municipal light and power plant, and asked the company to submit a sale price on advice of PWA officials.

The city council deferred action on the company offer until July 6.

Pair Dislikes City Jail; Given Chance To Try Out Another

Neenah—Justice Gaylord C. Loehning accommodated Eugene Miller, Ashland, and Roy McIntyre, Manitowish, who complained severely about the condition of the Neenah jail when they were arraigned this morning on charges of vagrancy, by giving them a chance to try out another jail. The justice sentenced each of the vagrants to 30 days in the county jail at Oshkosh.

The two men specifically complained about the hard planks in the Neenah jail on which they were required to sleep last night after having been arrested by Neenah police.

"I'm always anxious to please you boys," the justice said in pronouncing the sentences after the two men had pleaded guilty to the charges.

Inaugurate Series Of Sacred Concerts At Memorial Park

A series of weekly sacred concerts will be inaugurated at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, July 3, at Highland Memorial park and will continue through the months of July and August. The program proved popular with the public last summer and attracted Green Bay and Fond du Lac residents.

The park, formerly a farm, has been transformed into one of the most beautiful memorial parks in the country within five years and a singing tower stands as a memorial to those buried there. The tower is floodlighted at night.

The program this Sunday includes three guest artists of Appleton. They are Mrs. Esther Schulte, alto; Mrs. Lucille Heine, soprano; and Mr. E. E. Sager, accompanist.

The program: Chimes, Violin, At Dawning, Organ, The Last Rose Of Summer, Duets, Song Of The Celeste, Instrumental, Old Irish Air, Organ, Going Home, Duets, Trees, Baritone Solo, Old Black Joe, Glee Club, God Will Take Care Of You, Soprano Solo, Songs My Mother Taught Me, Orchestra, Andantino, Violin, The Palms, Tenor Solo, The Old Rugged Cross, Duets, Chimes.

The audience has been requested to refrain from starting cars or passing parked cars during a selection. H. C. Hoppe, general manager, Arthur Hoppe and E. W. Whiting are in charge of the programs.

KAUKAUNA AND TWO NEENAH GIRLS AMONG BRIDES OF LAST MONTH

Mementos of the month just past, which left society editors all over the country in a maze of tulle and orange blossoms, are these pictures of three June brides who were among the many in this vicinity to choose the traditional wedding month for their marriages. At the left and center are two Neenah girls who will make their homes out of the city when they return from wedding trips. Mrs. Lester Eberlein, left, the former Marian Marty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Marty, 331 E. Doty avenue, Neenah, whose marriage to Lester Eberlein, Stevens Point, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Eberlein, 116 Tyler street, Neenah, took place Friday, June 24, will make her home in Stevens Point, where her husband is district manager of the NYA.

Mrs. Arthur Silver, center, formerly Elaine Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans, 314 E. Franklin avenue, Neenah, who was married June 21 to Arthur Silver, St. Louis, Mo., will make her home in St. Louis, where Mr. Silver is a member of the staff of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

For her marriage on June 21 to Ignatius Theiss, Jean Busse, right, daughter of William Busse, Sarah street, Kaukauna, wore a simply made gown of silk lace over white satin, and her plain tulle veil fell from a crown of artificial calla lilies. She and Mr. Theiss, who is the son of Prof. and Mrs. A. J. Theiss, 804 S. State street, are making their home at 314 W. Wisconsin avenue. Oconto Water Rates Hearing Is Adjourned

Madison—The public service commission has adjourned an inquiry into the rates, rules, and practices of the Oconto water utility until July 20 after hearing commission employees testify on the physical and financial condition of the firm.

Frank C. Thiessen, of the commission staff, said yesterday substantial savings could be obtained if the firm would modernize its pumping equipment and construct a storage tank. He said operating costs would be reduced almost 33 1-3 per cent if the changes were made.

The hearing July 20 will give utility representatives an opportunity to testify concerning its finances. The utility is privately owned.

W. A. Anderson, commission examiner, said complaints had been received regarding rates, service and collections. Oconto has the highest water rates in the state, he said.

Giants Club Phils To Increase Lead

Score 14-1 Win for 4-Game National League Edge
PIRATES IN SECOND
Van Mungo Gives 1 Hit As Dodgers Defeat Bees

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—The New York Giants lifted their heavy batting barrage of the season yesterday collected 19 hits good for 29 bases, walloped the Phillies, 14 to 1, and boosted their National League lead to four full games.

Their scoring spurge was featured by a nine-hit, nine-run rally in the third inning which drove both Claude Passeau and Lefty Al Smith to the showers. After that it was a cinch for Clyde Castleman to breeze in with his third win of the year, a seven-hit performance.

Frank Leiber, belting his seventh homer of the year, along with a pair of doubles and a single, and Sembo Leslie, with two doubles and three singles, paced the Giants' attack. Evenly batted in the lineup except Alex Kampouris and Castleman hit safely at least once.

Leiber's homer with two on and one double came in the third inning spurge. Leslie and Mel Ott also connected for two hits each in this big inning.

The win gave the Giants a sweep of the three game series and boosted their current winning streak to four straight.

Pittsburgh—(P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates lagged in Cincinnati Reds to plunk into second place in the hot National League race Thursday when Cy Blanton pitched three-hit ball to take the rubber game of a three game series, 3 to 1.

The Pirates observed the twenty-ninth anniversary of the opening of Forbes Field by nicking Bucky Walters for 12 hits. Blanton allowed only one hit until the ninth when Frey hit for a double and scored on Goodman's single.

Suhr scored for the Pirates on his triple and a force play in the second. The other runs came in the eighth on Suhr's double, Vaughan's triple and Todd's single.

GIVES 1 HIT
Brooklyn—(P)—Van Lingle Mungo gave up just one hit Thursday—a two-bagger by Hal Warstler—as he pitched his best game in two seasons in hurling the Dodgers to a 5 to 0 shutout victory over the Boston Bees.

He fanned six and, although he walked eight, he was in full control of the situation at all times. Only two runners got as far as second base and none passed that station.

His mates backed him up with a 10-hit attack of Jim Turner, scoring two runs in the first and three more in the eighth.

Hurler Socked With $50 'Bonehead' Fine
St. Louis—(P)—A $50 "bonehead" fine was socked on Oral Hildebrand, Browns pitcher, by Gabby Street for failing to cover first base on an infield grounder against the White Sox the other day. It would have been the third out. But as it was the Sox scored three additional runs in the inning.

Philadelphia—The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League will have at least five tackles weighing over 225 pounds when training starts at West Chester Teachers on August 1. Jack Keeling, Texas U. hopeful at 235 pounds, is tops.

What's Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

IT APPEARS that in our intense interest over the Green Bay-Kaukauna rivalry in the Northern State league we have overlooked the fact that Two Rivers happens to be the second place team. Or perhaps we just never considered Two Rivers in the race.

Two Rivers has won seven games and dropped four which means it has three contests to play before it winds up the first round schedule. And there's the rub. The Cool City team has Alberts as its top hurler but after he's taken a turn on the mound there isn't anyone left.

Too, the club has gotten by on "Lucy's" pitching and nothing else because its hitting has been highly impotent.

Sunday the Rivers will tangle with New London at Two Rivers and that will mark Marilyn Munsch's return to the mound. He has been getting better with every start and it won't surprise us if he eases the Icebergers right out of the picture. On Sunday the lake shore team is at home again with Seymour the opponent and the result a tossup. And then there's a postponed game with Seymour.

Sign at John Coppes', Kaukauna—Kaukauna 5, Hopkinsville 1. That's what John thinks of the Green Bay ball team.

The American league softballers are mighty angry at someone. He's the guy who pulled all the hooks out of the league's scoreboard at Roosevelt field. President H. J. Walter says that if anyone else gets an idea like that he should let the league know, that the league will buy the hooks for him and it won't be necessary for him to get pliers to pull his job and the league won't have to replace the hooks.

It's reported the Outagamie County league All-Stars will clash with the Greenville Merchants, first round champions, July 12, under the lights at New London. The game will be a benefit with the funds going to the loop's victory banquet.

The Northeastern Women's Golf association tournament at Fond du Lac indicates that girls apparently aren't going in strong for golf. For so long that we can't remember, the same eight or ten women have figured in the championship flight of the tournament and the finalists have been Miss Ruth Plumb of Manitowoc and Miss Luetke of Green Lake. All of which is no crack aimed at the analysts; they've been exceptionally considerate in dealing with us in the way of pictures and information. We're just commenting on a situation in women's golf circles.

OLD Jupe Pluvius entered into the Northern State league baseball race yesterday and postponed two games. Kaukauna and Kimberly were scheduled to show at Kaukauna and decided that next Wednesday night probably will be better.

Manitowoc and Clintonville decided they'd try this evening at Clintonville because both have a heavy schedule for the weekend. Tomlin is expected to work for the Truckers and Pacetti for the Ships.

Postponing of the Kaukauna-Kimberly game to next week makes it a bit tougher for the Kaws to clinch the first round title. The Papermakers play twice over the holidays but they'll probably have Billy Dumke ready to shoot against the Brewers next week. And if he gets away to a good start he'll be a tough lay to beat.

Tourneys Planned At Riverview Club

Special Events to be Staged At Course During Holiday Weekend

The major tournament scheduled for the holiday weekend at Riverview Country club will be the "War of the Revolution." It will be two competitions in one—a regular "every-man-for-himself" flag tournament in which players will use their regular handicaps to which par is added and plant their flags when the allotted number of strokes are used up. In addition all players will be divided into two arms—half carrying the American flag and half carrying the British flag. Points for this team competition will be determined by the distance players advance in the flag tournament.

Driving and putting contests are scheduled for Saturday, Sunday and Monday. On Sunday afternoon there will be a mixed two-ball foursome.

In addition to this, there will be held a Million-Dollar tournament in which prizes will be awarded to each foursome, and a Blind Boy golf tournament.

The final match in the June Honors July Handicap will be played cheap, Dr. E. L. Bolton versus Rev. W. J. Spicer, will be played this weekend. Qualifying rounds for the other bracket.

Fourth Installment Your Mid-Year Sports Exam

By The AP Feature Service

Each question counts 20; each part of a two-part question, 10. A score of 80 is fair, 90, good.

1. What former House of David baseball pitcher gained immortal fame and how?
2. Who won the National A. A. U. handball singles championship for the fourth straight year?
3. Which horse won the Santa Anita handicap?
4. Why do the New York Yankees call pitcher Johnny Murphy "fireman"?
5. Which college team won the Madison Square Garden invitation basketball championship in New York?

Budge Whips Austin To Win Tennis Title

Wimbledon, Eng.—(P)—Playing in irresistible form, red-headed Don Budge crushed Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin of England, 6-1, 6-0, 6-3 today to win the all-England singles tennis championship for the second year in succession.

The great Californian never gave Austin a chance. Bunny held his own service in the second game of the opening set and then never won another until he broke Budge's delivery in the fourth game and of the final set.

Rain caused brief delay with Budge leading 4-3 in the third set. After the rain Budge picked up right where he left off, holding his own service in the eighth game and then ending matters in the ninth.

Ralph Guldahl Trains Sights On P. G. A. Title

It's the Only Championship Which Has Eluded Him

BY BILL BONI
NEW YORK—(P)—Ralph Guldahl, first man since Bobby Jones to win the United States open two straight years and first man ever to win the western open three times in succession, will train his sights on a title that so far has escaped him in the $15,000 Professional Golfers association championship July 10-16 at Shawnee-on-Deleware, Pa.

His United States and Western open triumphs gave the icy-nerved ex-Texan 160 points and the lead in the low-scoring competition for the Harry Vardon Memorial award. But while Guldahl, with 244 points, is 37 ahead of Paul Runyan on an average of 71.5 strokes for 36 rounds of tournament medal play, the P.G.A. is a tournament of another technique, if not exactly another color.

Medal play in the P.G.A. is limited to the 36-hole, two-day qualifying round. After that the 63 low scores and defending champion Denny Shute will go into match play, something the nation's pros encounter rarely on their annual circuit.

In the lists against Guldahl will be seven former winners of the pros' own title. In addition to Shute, who won at Pittsburgh in 1937 and at Pinehurst the year before, they are Walter Hagen, non-playing captain of the 1937 Ryder cup team whose five victories make him the only man to win the P.G.A. more than twice; veterans Leo Duggan and Gene Sarazen, lifetime champions; Johnny Revolta, Shute's predecessor; Runyan and Tommy Armour.

500 Athletes at A. A. U. Tourney

1,500 Meter Run Expected To Produce Greatest Rivalry

Buffalo, N. Y.—(P)—A half thousand athletes with a score of champions in their ranks converged here today for the national A. A. U. track and field meet tomorrow and Sunday.

They sought not only trophies and titles, but aimed for the coveted 40 places on a squad which will be sent on a tour of Europe this summer.

Two tense rivalries were expected to flare in one race, the 1,500-meter run. Glenn Cunningham and Arch Sant Romani on one hand, and Chuck Fenske and Louis Zamperini on the other are to resume their duels.

Cunningham, defending A. A. U. champion, beat Sant Romani in last year's meet and again two weeks ago in the Princeton invitational. Zamperini, Southern California sophomore, had lost only one race in six years when he was humbled last week by Fenske, Wisconsin star.

Black Says Joe Won't Defend Title in Fall

Chicago—(P)—Julian Black, co-manager of Joe Louis, said the heavyweight champion would forego a defense of his title against Max Baer in September, the Tribune reported today.

Black was quoted as saying Louis "has been working pretty hard and needs a rest" and that the champion would defend the title next spring or summer at the earliest.

The co-manager said this had the approval of Mike Jacobs, New York fight promoter who has an option on Louis' services. Black added that Gunnar Barlund of Finland would be considered the leading contender in the event Baer is defeated this year.

Louis was said to have cancelled plans to sail Wednesday for a European vacation so that he might supervise building of a new home for his mother in Detroit.

Collegiate Golf to Have a New Champion

Louisville, Ky.—(P)—Collegiate golf will have a new champion. Three sophomores and a junior, all making their first bids for the title, play today in the 36-hole semi-final round of the national intercollegiate golf tournament.

Co-medalist Lew W. Ochmig of Chattanooga, Tenn., and the University of Virginia, the lone junior, was paired with and favored over Bert McDowell of Kansas City, the remaining Louisiana State entry.

Bob Babbish of the University of Detroit, quarter-finals conqueror of top-favored Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., and Holy Cross, and John D. Burke of Georgetown, both consistent shooters of par or better, were rated a toss up in the other bracket.

County Leaders Battle Dale on Sunday Afternoon

Black Creek, Shiocton Also At Home: Games Close 1st Round

OUTAGAMIE County league baseball teams will close the first round of play Sunday afternoon with games at Black Creek, Dale and Shiocton. No games are scheduled for July 4.

Greenville Merchants, with the championship all sewed up, will invade Dale where the game is scheduled for 1:30 because of the celebration in that village. The Merchants are favored because they've romped through the first round with eight wins against one defeat and because of a high class pitching staff.

Cliff Burton is expected to do the tossing unless Dats Crowe decides he can carry the load. Lefty Fredricks is another hurling possibility. Horn will handle the big mitt.

For Dale, Lefty Kaufman probably will get the call. The portlander has been instrumental in putting Dale in a tie for second place with Shiocton and would like to beat the leaders just to show that it can be done. Schultz will do the catching.

Last week Dale defeated the Grange, 12 to 11, in 12 frames.

Shiocton will tangle with the Grange at Shiocton and aims to win and take lone possession of second place as it believes Dale will bow to the leaders.

Last week Shiocton defeated Hortonville, 6 to 3, with a barrage of late hits. Sabrowsky will hurl for Shiocton and Kuzenski probably will show for the Grange. McDermott is slated to catch for Shiocton.

In the other game, Hortonville goes to Black Creek for a contest which doesn't mean much except that it will feature a couple of old rivals. Black Creek bowed to the Merchants last week but plans to pick up on the Canners. Miller or Krahn will pitch for the Merchants with C. Le Capitaine catching.

Freddie Buchman will go after a win for Hortonville and his catcher will be Omholt. Freddie had a win in his pocket last week until he weakened in the late frames but aims to do better this trip.

The standings:

LITTLE CHUTE—Another brace of good games will be played in the Fox River Valley league Sunday with Green Bay and Kaukauna engaging in the feature tilt at the Electric City. Both teams won their first games in the second round and will be battling to stay in the undefeated class.

Neenah travels to Oshkosh to seek revenge for the defeat suffered in the first round which blasted the Merchants' title hopes. Appleton invades Little Chute for what promises to be a "knock 'em down and drag 'em out" battle. Little Chute handled Oshkosh, first round winners, rather roughly in the game last week and the Dutchmen are all pepped up over new found strength.

Grand Chute will meet Menasha in the other league games and the tilt will be staged at either Grand Chute or Neenah for the Menasha park isn't available for games as yet. The Polish Falcons surprised the dopesters with a victory over Neenah last Sunday and appear to be formidable contenders for the second half title. Menasha defeated Grand Chute by a slim 2 to 1 margin in their last meeting after a George Kosloski pitched a no-hit game.

Johnny Allen Pitches, Bats to Defeat Tigers For 11th Straight Win

CLEVELAND—(U)—Johnny Allen, rushed to the aid of Bob Feller, was credited with his eleventh straight victory yesterday when, with two out in the ninth, he singled to bring home Frankie Pytlak and give Cleveland a 10-9 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The Indians' win gave them the slam-bang series, two games to one, and kept them three games ahead of the second-place New York Yankees.

Manager Oscar Vitt sent Feller to the show in the eighth when the Iowa speedball hurler, with Cleveland leading 9 to 5, walked the first two men, Billy Rogell promptly greeted Allen with a triple, Walker doubled and White, who ran for Walker, scored the tying run on York's fly.

Pytlak Gets Triple
Harry Eisenstat, third Detroit pitcher, sent the Indians down in order in the last of the eighth and Allen did the same with the Tigers in the ninth. Pytlak's triple with two out set the stage for Allen's winning blow.

Feller batted in two runs himself, getting a double, single, walk and a sacrifice in his four appearances at the plate, but failed to gain his tenth win. Allen has not been beaten since the first game of the year when the St. Louis Browns took him over.

KNOTT' WINS FOR SOX
St. Louis.—(U)—Jack Knott, who was just another pitcher with the St. Louis Browns, turned in a masterful four-hitter today against his former mates to give the Chicago White Sox an 11 to 1 victory and a sweep of the four-game series.

Knott gave up only one hit until the eighth inning when singles by Red Kress and Glenn McQuillen, and Don Heffner's double, produced the lone Brownie run.

Buck Newsom, the Browns' most reliable hurler, had his worst day of the season. He even passed Boze Berger with the bags loaded in the fourth, forcing Marvin Owen over the plate with the first of five runs scored that frame. Three other pitchers who followed him to the hill were practically as luckless.

SMACK HOMERS
New York.—(U)—Behind the four-hit pitching of Red Ruffing, the Yankees' homer hitters trampled the Philadelphia Athletics 7 to 1 Thursday to stretch their winning streak to five straight.
Joe DiMaggio's 11th homer, with two aboard in the first inning, and Tommy Henrich's eighth, with one on base in the fifth, accounted for five of the Yankees runs.

Maple Valley Plays At Marion on Sunday

Marion.—The race in the Pigeon River Valley league will tighten Sunday when Maple Valley and Marion, playing at Marion, will fight for first place. In a former game this season Maple Valley defeated Marion by one point and the present standings give Marion a one game lead. There will be plenty of interest shown here as Maple Valley is composed of nearly all Marion boys.

Red River will go to Symco and as these teams are evenly matched at present, the game should be an interesting one. Although Red River has lost its last two games, it ran a high score against Marion earlier in the season, when it defeated the Brewers, 14 to 4, and also ran up a score of 15 to 2 against Clintonville.

Clintonville and Manawa will battle on the Manawa diamond Sunday, and it is expected Clintonville will come out on the long end.

WIDE BACKSTROKE
Besides insuring a constant swinging arc which will keep the clubhead in an accurate groove and thus contact the ball correctly, the straight left arm is an aid in securing a wider backstroke. The straight left arm possible in the backstroke set up a body turning motion that can be extended to provide a lengthy arc. For example, the left hip turning to the right initiates a movement which causes the right hip to revolve, due to the pressure of the left hand in taking the club back. With the body in this turning motion, it is possible to continue the turn until the clubhead is in a horizontal position at the top, the clubhead pointed to the right of the whole and the player's back presented to it.

From this position, the muscles of the midsection, hips and back fully coiled, it is possible to generate considerable power. Furthermore there is plenty of time to reach the climax of this power. The downstroke starts leisurely through a turn of the left hip to its original position, which reacts in pulling down tendency of the left arm. Gaining momentum smoothly in this manner there is no desire to lurch or lunge into the ball. As the hands reach the half way stage the wrists start uncoiling, adding considerable momentum to the already fast descending clubhead. This added momentum means increased distance when the clubhead makes its impact with the ball.

NO TRIPS FOR GRIDDERS
McAlester, Okla.—(U)—Coach Jess Duncan would like to obtain some more football opponents for next fall's schedule. "There's only one stipulation," Coach Dunn stated. "All our games must be played at home." Dunn is only coach temporarily. His full time job is being warden of McAlester prison and his players are convicts.

Easiest Signal Is Best, Says Hemsley, Whose Catching Helped Feller's Pitching

BY RAY BLOSSER
CLEVELAND—(U)—Ralston Burdett Hemsley, as one former schoolboy wonder to another, signals Bob Feller that every American league batter has a weakness.

"If they didn't they'd all hit .300 per cent," says the 30-year-old Hemsley, who started with Pittsburgh when he was only 19, after three years with Frederick, Md. The Cleveland Indians obtained Hemsley from the St. Louis Browns this year to catch the Iowa speedball flash after Hemsley greatly impressed him on a post-season last year storming tour. So "Rollie," a traditional wad of tobacco in his mouth, took young Master Robert in hand.

Feller has great confidence in Hemsley and feels he can toss better when Rollie is behind the plate. Hemsley has helped him gain more control and has also aided him in developing a good curve.

Baseball men call Hemsley one of the smartest receivers in the business. Joe Doaks, the loud-voiced guy with the bag of peanuts in his hands, isn't much more surprised when Hemsley picks a man off base than the man himself.

"Bob's greatest trouble is his wildness—and that's about all," says Hemsley.

Offers Good Target
"I just go out and talk to him, and tell him not to worry about the batter. The other things to pull him out of it is to give him good targets—push the glove out at him."

When Hemsley's calloused right hand overlaps the front of his glove he may be signaling Feller: "We're changing our signals. The runner on second base is getting to them."

"About the only man you have to watch is the runner on second. Your legs and your glove keep the coaches on first and third from stealing them. The same goes for the dugout."

Feller's battery-mate is a good psychologist. "It's a gamble you take, when you're in a tight spot, deciding whether to pitch to the batter's strength or weakness. I've seen batters frequently hit a ball on which they're supposed to be weak—just because they're looking for it. I've seen a lot of pitchers throw the ball right to the batter's strength because of that."

Gehring Tough
"But Charlie Gehring—you have to outguess him. He's liable to go up and take three straight curve balls, waiting for a fast one. The next time he might take three fast ones, waiting for a curve."

Just as the pitch is about ready to start and the batter must intently watch the pitcher, Hemsley pushes out his glove to tell Feller where the ball should go—inside, outside, low or high.

"You can even signal with your feet by getting up and down," says Hemsley, "but the easiest signal is the best. It allows the pitcher to concentrate on the batter—instead of the signs."

"Big Train" Disclaims Political Ambitions
Washington.—(U)—Walter Johnson—who gets elected to just about everybody's all-star baseball team—disclaimed today any political ambitions.

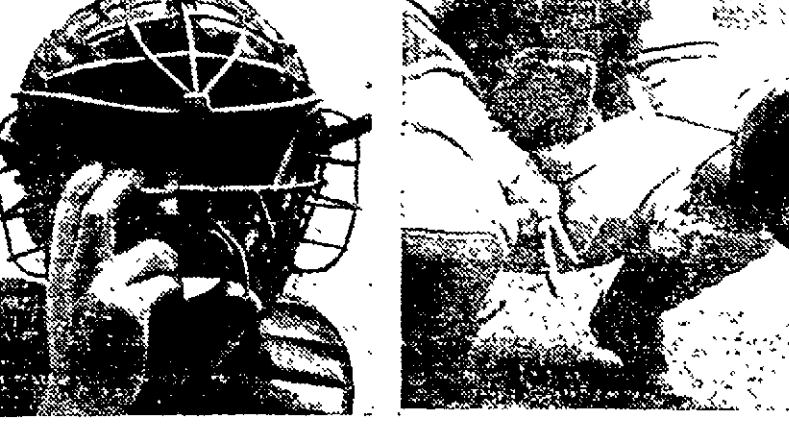

Rumors have been heard about the capital and in nearby Maryland, where baseball's one-time "big train" makes his home, that he would come out of retirement and seek a public job.

"Politics," said the soft-spoken king of the fireballers, "is a lot like baseball—you've got to please the public or they kick you out." Johnson admitted that certain factions had suggested he run for county commissioner or delegate to the Maryland legislature.

"I thanked 'em," he said, "but I told them that sort of life is not for me to get into again. I never realized how quiet and peaceful things would be until I got out on my farm."

Battle of the Two Helens Has Tennis World Agog

NEW YORK—(U)—Helen Jacobs, 32, and Helen Wills, 29, meet again tomorrow on the center court at Wimbledon, to write another chapter in the longest and bitterest rivalry in the history of women's sport.

Ten years ago, in 1928, Helen Wills, then still known as "Little poker-face," inflicted her first important defeat upon the younger girl who had followed her out of Berkeley, Calif. That was in the national championships at Forest Hills.

They have been at it, off and on, ever since. Helen, the first, carrying on her tennis career through a marriage and divorce, has done most of the winning. Helen the second, never married, has been forced through most of a decade to play the part of a game loser.

Three times Helen Wills has defeated Helen Jacobs in the final at Wimbledon—in 1929, 1932 and 1935. Helen Jacobs' only victory, at Forest Hills in 1933, was not a complete one, her famous rival defaulting when the score was 3-0 against her in the third and deciding set. The back injury that forced the older Helen off the court that day kept her out of competitive tennis for 18 months.

Nothing in Common
There never has been a violent enmity between the two girls, nor have they ever been real friends. Off the playing court they simply have gone their respective ways, with nothing in common.

Helen Jacobs always has been what is known as a "good fellow." She ever is accessible and friendly. Helen Wills, the tennis machine, is very patrician and polite. They are two vastly different personalities.

The qualities they have in common are obvious. Each is dead game superb competitor, and at 29 and over they still are the two best women tennis players in the world when the chips are in the middle.

Their last previous meeting in the famous center-court, in 1935, was one of the most thrilling ever played between women. Few of us among the 17,000 who sat in one of the tense duel will forget it.

Feeling over the match was intensified by the fact that Mrs. Moody had "walked out" on Miss Jacobs in their match at Forest Hills two summers before. Jacobs partisans felt she should have played out the final three games and "taken her licking," no matter how much her back hurt.

Mrs. Moody, who had come back to give her old rival another chance, was beautifully to run off the first set, 6-3. Miss Jacobs came back to win the second, 6-3.

Later, she said forlornly: "There it was and I couldn't hit it." Crushed, she watched Mrs. Moody run out the set and the match, 7-5. One reprieve was all Helen Moody needed.

AMERICAN OUT-OF-DOORS (Part 2)

By Cal Johnson
Few states permit trolling with an outboard motor, or any motor propelled boat for that matter. Therefore, the little power plant is used mostly to take you and your party to and from the fishing grounds. However, where motors can be used for trolling they are a great advantage. In the big waters of the Great Lakes the outboard motor comes in mighty handy when trolling for lake trout. Special trolling plates can be purchased that fit on the propeller shaft. This accessory slows down the speed of the boat to a minimum for trolling or casting. The speed can be governed by the operator.

Perhaps the greatest feature of interest to the fisherman is the weedless propellers now in vogue, or the special weedless devices possible to attach. The best fishing areas are generally those where the weeds are the thickest, therefore any outboard that can successfully traverse through such obstruction is favored by the fisherman. Most of the new motors are built with propeller shafts and propellers that will travel through ordinary weeds, but it is well to make certain when purchasing a motor whether the weedless propeller is a part of the plant. Fishing clear waters, of course, calls for no special weedless device—still the all-around fishing motor should possess this feature.

In selecting an outboard motor for fishing it is necessary to take into consideration how your motor is to be used. If you are established permanently on a good lake and do not intend to tote your motor around very much, if at all, it is then best to purchase a motor of medium size and of the twin cylinder type for use on the family size fishing boat. The larger and heavier motors, of course, can be selected in this instance, but we have found that the heavier and more powerful plants are best adapted to pleasure use.

Fourth Carnival Being Planned at League Clubhouse

WAUPACA—Officers of the Waupaca Conservation league are planning their fourth annual carnival at the league's clubgrounds two miles east of Waupaca, July 16 and 17.

The event will include entertainment, games, trap and rifle shooting, refreshment booths, music, and other usual devices of a small town carnival.

Stressed by the league members is the fact that all proceeds of the carnival will go toward game and fish propagation or towards feeding of game birds.

The slogan of last year's carnival, summing up the meaning of the whole business was "catch the sucker to feed the trout."

Grimes' Double Gives Milwaukee Win Over Millers
Blow Scores Three Runs; Parmelee Losing Pitcher

MINNEAPOLIS—(U)—Oscar Grimes, husky Milwaukee third sacker, slammed out a double in the eighth inning that scored three runs and won for Milwaukee, 6-4, over Minneapolis, last night.

The score was tied 3-3. The blow sent in Schulte, Hope and Heath. Joe Heying, who cooperated with George Blalocker, winning pitcher, allowed only one Miller run in the ninth.

Blalocker, after being pummeled for three runs in the first inning, settled down and didn't allow a run the rest of the way until the ninth, when he was relieved by Heying.

Roy Parmelee was the victim. In the eighth he collapsed under a barrage of hits from Schulte, St. Paul, pursuing the league-leading Kansas City Blues for weeks, nipped the later 3-0 last night to hurdle into first place in the standings. Ray Phelps allowed 14 scattered hits in besting Marvin Blalocker, 4-3.

craft or racing hulls. The fishing motor should be quiet and smooth, light in weight and easy to handle. The boat should be of the standard outboard type and not too heavy. Canoes of the square stern type are ideal for water travel where portaging is part of the sport.

I cannot recommend any individual type of outboard motor as the ones now are all reliable and well made. Some have certain features that others do not possess, but the less expensive motor of today is so far ahead of the most expensive outboard of only a few years ago that we have little to fear in our selection. The only thing to bear in mind is when selecting an outboard motor for fishing do not purchase one that is too heavy. There is plenty of power in the smaller motors and the matter of economy is always worth consideration.

New Industry Is Planned at Plant In Waupaca City

Representatives Refuse to Divulge Nature of Business

WAUPACA—Considerable secrecy has surrounded arrangements for a new industry which plans to start operations in the city within the next few weeks, final plans for which were discussed at a special meeting of the common council Thursday evening.

Representatives of the business, the nature of which may not be divulged for some time, appeared before the council at their adjourned meeting Tuesday evening. At this time a request for a two year lease of the Stewart Tractor plant, with an option to purchase at the end of that period, was made of the council. Mayor I. B. Erickson referred the matter to the board of public works for a thorough investigation and at the special session the board recommended to the council that the lease be granted.

The lure to this particular industry is the exceptionally pure water to be found in this community. The only drawback to the location of the plant is the fact that no water or sewerage pipes extend that far out of the city. After measuring the distance, investigating the purchase price of two inch pipe and six inch tile, Alderman Stanley Wetherbee of the board of public works announced that $543.70 would cover the expense and that a WPA project could undoubtedly be put through at once which would work in conjunction with the present sewerage project.

The Stewart Tractor plant has been a "white elephant" as far as the city is concerned for some years. In addition to the rental the city will be able to receive from the new company, the representative assured the council that the water bill for the first two months would easily be $80 and that thereafter it would never be less than $22 a month and usually around $35, the company being unable to operate with less water.

Attorney Edwin Godfrey of Appleton is expected Saturday to draw up the lease.

Marion Man Purchases Market at Oconto Falls

Marion—Kenneth Balderson has purchased a meat market at Oconto Falls, and the family is moving there soon.

L. M. Devaud submitted to an operation Tuesday afternoon at the Clintonville Community hospital for the removal of his right eye. It is convalescing and is expected to leave the hospital this week.

Six girls are camping at Dixie lodge on Pine Lake. They are Harriet and Priscilla Hoffman, Dixie Wulke, Rosemary Daley and Jean and Mary Byers.

Mrs. Mary Werner of Oklahoma City is visiting at the Dedolph and Walter Wulke homes.

The Woman's Relief Corps will hold its last meeting during the summer months at the Frank Bowers home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Alfred Bazille and Mrs. Ed Milbauer will be the assisting hostesses.

Lawrence Frailing, who manages a local orchestra, known as "Bud and His Buddies," has signed a contract to broadcast for one-half hour every Friday over stations WHEB, WIBA and KFIZ. This contract is for six months.

E. E. Ramsdell, former resident of Marion, was a visitor in Marion Wednesday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Glen Ramsdell and daughter of San Antonio, Texas, and Mrs. E. Bailey of Marshfield.

Billy, of Topeka, Kans., visited friends in the village this week. George and Fred Pocket, partners in the Pocket tavern, have dissolved partnership. George retiring from the business. He is looking for another location.

The Royal Neighbors lodge met at the home of Mrs. Clara Michaelis Thursday afternoon.

THE STORY SO FAR: Asey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, is investigating the murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has enraged Quannomet. She was killed by a left handed blow from the knife of her sister, Pam Frye. Interested parties are: Tim Carr, once married to Marina; Roddy Strutt, whose alibiing plane crash was deliberate; Peggy Boone, an artist; Jennings, an irate plumber; and persons unknown who burned down the Frye's barn, killed Asey, Tim and Pam's father, destroyed Jack Lorne's mural sketches and defaced the mural itself. Missing is a $50,000 lump of ambergris belonging to Pam, which several people saw on the beach from Roddy's plane. Then Roddy disappears.

Chapter 41
The Big, Bad Buffer

"All I got to say," Asey twined the Colt, "is that you better find him an' bring him back in just fifteen minutes. Brother Strutt or you'll be struttin' into a jail. Do I make myself clear?"

Roddy's father was almost in tears. "But I tell you--"

"Neither Elliott nor me," Asey said, "was born yesterday. You find Roddy, an' find him quick, or the house of Strutt'll be cold turkey."

"He's gone," Carveth sobbed. "He was here before you came an' now he's gone. That man's not him!"

"If this is an act," Asey said, "it's one of the best I ever seen outside a theater. Elliott, will you explain to him that I want Roddy without any more tears or squeaks?"

"But it's that man Jennings," Carveth said. "It's that man Jennings!"

"Oh, it is?" You mean Earl Jennings the plumber?"

"Yes," Carveth said. "Yes! It was most unfortunate. I'm sure we did every thing in our power to make things right, and then this mural--"

"What's this?" Asey asked. "Jennings' daughter," Elliott explained while Carveth blew his nose.

"And now," Carveth said, "he's done what he threatened-- he's kidnapped Roddy-- and why don't you two do something about it?"

"Earl Jennings," Asey said, "is over in the Pochet hospital. I seen him there myself."

"Most unfortunate his being hurt in that plane crash," Carveth said. "Most unfortunate, as I told Roddy, why couldn't he have picked someone else. But of course that would have been satisfactorily adjusted by the family, just as the other unfortunate incident was adjusted. I told Jennings that myself, last night," Asey said.

"Oh, no, he was not!" Carveth retorted with a show of spirit. "He was there, here, threatening us. After I saw you at Octagon House and threatening Roddy, too. He seemed to think that he had been put into that mural because Roddy told Mar-I mean, told Lorne to put him in. And that accident--"

"You mean to say that Jennings' Earl Jennings the plumber--he was here last night?" Asey's eyes lighted up.

"He was," Carveth said. "Asey smiled, and remembered the conversation he had had with the nurse about Jennings. If he had had the slightest bit of intelligence, he should have guessed what was it she'd said! Something about "So Asey had heard what went on about Jennings--"

On The Loose

"It seems to me," Elliott said, "that I did hear something about Jennings on the loose last night. He goes off on busts, you know. They're the talk of Quannomet. They used to be the talk even of Company B in the old days."

"Listen to me," Asey said to Carveth. "I'm comin' back here in an hour, an' you produce Roddy for me. Elliott's got to stay here with you an' see that you do, ain't you, Elliott? Right. You see, he finds Roddy, if you have to fight another Chateau Thierry, Herc." He handed over the forty-five. "You take this, an' find Roddy. I'm goin' over to the Pochet hospital an' see Jennings. I happen to know that he'll be there."

The nurses crowded around him by the desk.

"Asey," Susan said, "you certainly did the trick! We haven't had a peek out of Jennings since you were here. He went to sleep like a little lamb--"

"I want to see him," Asey said. "Quick--tell me if he got out last night!"

"Yesterday afternoon, shortly after you were here. They say he was on a tear, but he really hadn't had much to drink. His wife and the doctor made him come back this morning-- they simply couldn't quiet him down. It's that natural and the pip-- that have got on his nerves--" he opened the door carefully. "I think he's a-leech--" she flicked on the light. "Oh Mr Jennings--Miss--"

She and Asey stared at the empty room.

Asey brushed past Susan into the hall, and faced back to the desk.

"Scuse me," he said, and grabbed the telephone. "Hello, this is Asey Mayo. I want to talk with Hanson of the state police--that's right. Ask the Quannomet exchange where he is--right?"

Susan whispered breathlessly to the other nurse.

"Hello, Hanson?" Oh, Lane. Listen. Take some men, go over to the Strutt place by the beach. Hunt for a fellow named Earl Jennings, and for the young Strutt boy. There's a Congressman there named Elliott. He'll explain everything to you. You want Earl Jennings an' Roddy Strutt. Got that?"

"He listened for a moment."

"That's it, Lane. What do you do when you get them? You sit on them both. Oh, an' phone to the barrack--get Jennings' or plate numbers from someone. Have the roads watched, for fun. That's right. I'll be over."

He put the phone down, stared reflectively at a chart on the desk.

New London Organization Takes Part in Joint Program

Seymour — A joint band concert was held Wednesday evening in Seymour by the New London High School band and the Seymour High School band. Several selections were played individually by the bands and the following selections were rendered by the two bands jointly: "March," "Mantou Heights," "Christianson," "Princess of India," "King," "His Honor," "Fillmore," "Tone poem," "Trailing Arbutus," "Geebe," "March," "32nd Division," "Steinmetz," "Festival," "overture," "Taylor," "March," "Colorado," "Holmes," "March," "Hall of Fame," "Olyadoti."

Dogs Have Their Own Ideas on What Time Cows Should Come in

Royalton—A. W. Ritchie, owner of the Greenwood farm, heard three of his dogs barking excitedly early one morning recently and knew something was amiss.

Hurriedly dressing, he went out to the barn. There he found that the herd of cattle which had been left for the night in a pasture back of the barn was back in the building. The dogs were guiding the last heifer in her stanchion when Mr. Ritchie arrived.

Either the big double doors of the barn had been blown open during the night or the dogs had nudged them open and decided that it was time for the cows to come in. "Those dogs are better than an alarm clock," Mr. Ritchie says.

New York — (P) — Stock swept forward with renewed vigor in today's market, many reaching new highs for the year and longer with gains running to 3 or more points.

A spurt in virtually all major industrial commodities raised the share-buying fever to a real rallying pitch. Cotton jumped about $1 a bale and hide and rubber futures advanced sharply. Only grains were inclined to hang back.

One group after another was taken up with copper, rails, steel, motors, oils, rubbers, aircrafts, mail orders and specialties being given

Chemical Will be Used for Street Dust Alleviation

Council Decides Against Use of Oil Because of Rainy Weather

Kaukauna — Property holders on five Kaukauna streets presented petitions to the council last night asking that some means be adopted to settle the dust on their streets during the summer months. Edward Steidl, president of the board of public works, had issued a call for petitions asking for oil applications two weeks ago.

The council discussed the question of oil applications and decided that with present rainy weather the oil would be wasted. It was voted to continue the practice of putting calcium chloride on the streets. The streets were those about LaFollette park, where traffic will be heavy to the American Legion picnic July 3 and 4.

Need Replacement

Alderman Al Hartzheim, chairman of the fire and police committee, reported on the question of replacing the members of the police department this summer when they took their vacation. A system which Alderman Jule Mertes had previously recommended as an economy measure which he said would save the city several hundred dollars, Hartzheim said the fire and police commission told him that the absence of one policeman would be a big handicap, as there were many summer activities to cover and by state law the policemen were confined to an 8-hour day.

Mertes replied that he had been talking to a member of the commission who said no meeting had been called to decide the question.

"The president of the commission gave the report to me as from the whole body," Hartzheim countered. "Perhaps the member you talked with was not in town when they met."

No Notice

"He received no notice of a meeting," Mertes replied, continuing, "last year there was some dissatisfaction as to a man regularly employed elsewhere getting a leave of absence to fill in. There are men who need work to pay their taxes who could substitute."

"Being a policeman is different from a ditch digger," Hartzheim came back with. "The citizens pay for fire and police protection and we must provide men capable of giving it to them."

The council made no change in the customary method of the fire and police commission during a replacement while vacations were being taken.

Alderman Walter Kilgas, ordinance committee chairman, presented an ordinance calling for the starting of council meetings at 7 o'clock instead of 8 o'clock in the future. It passed with no objections.

A communication from the Little Chute fire department was read asking that some agreement be reached allowing that village to use a Kaukauna water hydrant on Highway 41 near Little Chute. It was referred to the utility commission and the fire and police commission for a recommendation.

Hagman Concludes Year as Governor Of Rotary District

Kaukauna — Walter P. Hagman, Outagamie Rural Normal school principal, yesterday concluded his year as governor of district 143, Rotary International. He was made the district nominee at a meeting in Ironwood, Mich., in May of last year, and officially elected while at the international convention in Nice, France. Before attending the Nice conclave he went to the Rotary training school for a week at Montreux, Switzerland. Hagman has been secretary of the local club for 15 years, his service in this respect dating back to within six months of the club's charter. Lawrence Reynolds, Ontonagon, Mich., succeeds Hagman as governor of the 143rd district.

It Is Said--

That Mayor Lewis F. Nelson put a slightly different interpretation on the ordinance passed at last night's council meeting, placing the starting hour of future meetings at 7 o'clock, than did the aldermen. Passed with the idea of getting through an hour earlier than at present, Mayor Nelson drew a laugh when he remarked that now the members would be able to get in an extra hour of work.

That the city of Kaukauna has an old fire truck about the size of an elephant that is becoming whiter every day. Bids have been advertised for but it seems no one desires to possess a used truck. Alderman Jule Mertes recommended the council last night that they trade it in on a police car.

Scouts Leave for Stay At Gardner Dam Camp

Kaukauna — Three Kaukauna scouts left today for the valley camp at Gardner Dam where they will assume duties this summer. Neil McCarty will be camp clerk, Monroe Romanesko will be a scoutmaster instructor and Tim McCarty will be trading post clerk. The first group of scouts from Kaukauna will leave on July 10 for camp.

1,000 Bushels of Grain Treated by New Machine

Kaukauna — More than 1,000 bushels of grain have been treated at farms in this vicinity with the new grain treater built at the high school, James T. Judd, agricultural instructor, said yesterday. Forty-eight samples of soil from farms have been tested. All the work is done at cost.

be directed to remove all their property from the Outagamie mill and that a hydrant be erected on the west end of Catherine street.

A notice of a meeting of city planning commissions at Oshkosh July 21 and 22 under the auspices of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities and the state planned board was read, and the attendance of the members of the newly created Kaukauna commission urged.

Alderman Mertes suggested that as long as no one wanted to buy the old fire truck on which bids were recently advertised it be traded in on a police car. It would cost the city no more, Mertes said, for the present rent on the car used by the police department could be used to pay for it. It was referred to the fire and police commission for their recommendation.

An application of Barney Seckelink for the position of bridge tender was received and placed on file.

Hansen, McCarty And Mill Named To Planning Body

Appointment of Citizen Members Announced By Mayor Nelson

Kaukauna — Carl J. Hansen, Joseph C. McCarty and A. R. Mill were appointed last night by Mayor Lewis F. Nelson as the three citizen members of the city planning commission. McCarty will serve three years, Mill two and Hansen one. Other members of the commission are Frank M. Charlesworth, city engineer, Edward Steidl, chairman of the board of public works, Mayor Nelson and Oscar Alger, representative of the council.

The inauguration of this commission marks a milestone in the history of Kaukauna," Mayor Nelson remarked after the council had approved his appointments. "It has been long needed and will serve to interest all the people in making a better community."

In the council's ballot to name their representative on the commission Alderman Oscar Alger received five votes, Alderman Al Hartzheim four and Alderman T. L. Sogellink one. The latter two withdrew in favor of Alger and the clerk was instructed to give him a unanimous vote.

Adopt Ordinance

The movement for a city planning commission began about a month ago when C. M. Albers, engineer of the state planning board, appeared before the council and explained the workings of such a body. Alderman Walter Kilgas, chairman of the ordinance committee, was directed to draw a measure embodying the powers set forth by state statute to city commissions of this nature. Kilgas presented his ordinance at the June 21 meeting and it was unanimously approved.

The commission is a purely advisory body and all its members serve without pay. Its functions as an advisory body and makes recommendations to the council. It has no money to spend, but, if the council approves, may call in expert advice on any question. Matters to be submitted to the planning commission include the erection and placing of public buildings, monuments, statues, location of streets, parks, bridges and summer camps. It may also recommend building ordinances and zoning regulations and restrictions.

The commission may call on the state planning board at any time for help and advice. Albers pledged the cooperation of that body when he appeared before the council. Many Wisconsin cities have a planning commission similar to that now possessed by Kaukauna.

OCTAGON HOUSE

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

and then picked up the receiver again.

"I want Octagon House, over in Quannomet," he said.

He whistled under his breath as he waited.

"Octagon House—that you, Tim? Tim, have you got troopers there? Well, leave one at the house, take the other an' go over to Jack Lorne—he's still there? Okay. Take a trooper an' go over there an' stay. The biffer's loose again, an' he might come for Lorne. That's right. No chases, this time, Tim. Tell those fellers to get him."

"What—" Susan began.

"I ain't got time to tell you," Assey said. "Oh, why didn't we tie that fellow up?"

He hurried out to Tim's car and swung it back towards Quannomet. At the cross roads he hesitated the fraction of a second. It would be a little longer to go past the Octagon House but, on the other hand, it might be wise to drop in there on his way back to the Strutt's.

Tim howled at him as he turned up the Lorne's drive.

"Assey! Come here—my God, come here—"

"What's happened?" Assey didn't even bother to turn off the engine.

"Lorne—"

"Lorne, what? What?"

"Come and see," Tim held open the door "In the studio."

Lorne lay face down on the couch, his shoulders shaking convulsively.

"What's the matter?" Assey demanded.

Lorne lifted up a tear-stained face, looked at Assey, then dove back into a pillow.

"He's been spanked," Tim explained, cheerfully.

"Believe it or not he's been spanked. It took me ten minutes to get the information out of him. I thought he was having convulsions when we first came in?"

"Who spanked him?"

"That," Tim said, "is something I don't know. I haven't got that far yet. He's terribly reticent. You'd think he'd had his tongue spanked."

Assey walked over and shook Lorne by the shoulder.

"Come to! What happened, an' who done it?"

Lorne sobbed bitterly.

"See here," Assey said, "you told me that artists had to suffer. This ain't no way to take a spanking. You'd ought to consider it a thrilling experience that'll probably make you another Mike Angelo."

"He—he sus-spup-spanked me!" "Sooner or later," Tim said, "spankings come to all men. Brace up. We want to know who the hero was."

"Earl Jennings!"

Assey sat down. "How long ago," he asked, "did this happen? Come on, come to, Lorne! When did he do it?"

"I don't know. A long time. Two hours. Maybe less. I don't know. But," Lorne sat up, "I know on thing, if I ever see the man again, I'll kill him! I'll tear him apart with my bare hands!"

The idea of the slender Jack Lorne tearing Jennings apart was somehow irresistibly funny to Assey. It appealed also to Timothy.

"Does he mean he'll do that to the biffer?" the latter wanted to know.

"He does? Oh, no, Jack! No, I've had some brief experience with your spanker and I'll tell you for your own good, just you let him have his own good, and forgive him freely."
